OUR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

Recognition of the South—Dodges of the French Bulls and Bears—The Florida—Mexico—Poland and the Bourse—An Item of Secret Diplomatic History—Senator Gwin—A New American Chapel.

Special Correspondence of the New-York Times.

PARIS, Friday, Sept. 18, 1863.

The opinion that the French Government is desirous of recognizing the Southern Confederacy is so general that every indication which can be construed as leaning that way naturally throws the public into a fever of excitement. The report that the Confederacy had just been recognized, or was about to be, has served on several occasions, when well organized by its inventors, to throw down the funds, and to put money into the pockets of the "bears." Last Saturday the thing was attempted for the twentieth time and succeeded to the uttermost hopes of those who got it up. So, too, three days ago, the Moniteur published a note in regard to the privateer Florida, which was made use of in the same way by the "bears" and with the same happy result for themselves. This note of the Moniteur, which you probably received by the last mail, was meant to clear up several points. In the first place, it had been stated in several, even of the Government papers, that the Florida was a "corsair," and the Government having admitted her into one of its own docks for repairs, it was necessary to declare that she was not a corsair, but a regularly commissioned man-of-war; otherwise she could not have been admitted. In the second place, certain French subjects, who had claims against the Florida for depredations committed on the high seas, were trying to obtain their claims by a seizure of the vessel in the Government docks, and on the supposition that as a corsair she must be private property. The note of the Moniteur, by showing that she is a regularly commissioned man-of-war of a belligerent Power, protects her from seizure in her docks, and throws the responsibility of her debts on the Confederate Government. So that the claims in question, if decided by the Courts to be just, will fall upon the Confederate Government, and if not paid, then the French Government will hand the ship over for sale.

For the present, therefore, these claims against the Florida have been referred to the Courts, and the ship continues her repairs. There is every reason to believe that the French Government will in every particular adhere to the law without favoritism. Nevertheless, as I commenced to tell you, the note of the Moniteur was made use of the first day as an indication of a speedy recognition of the South, and while some people were made glad by it, quite as many were badly scared.

There is nothing new about Mexico. Mr. SLIDELL is at Biarritz, where he is no doubt laboring in the cause of the Confederacy. Between two men so naturally fond of political intrigue, it would be curious if some wonderful schemes, guarded by a good many "ifs," were not concocted for the future. I think I can say, however, that there is the same disposition now as there always has been on the part of the Emperor, to wait and watch further the development of events in the United States, before adopting for Mexico or the Southern Confederacy any fixed policy. This is certainly the most logical course to follow, and there is no evidence to prove that it will not be followed.

There are some curious secret details in regard to late diplomatic movements on the Polish and other European questions. It appears, for example, that the report which was started in the Paris papers a few weeks ago, in regard to a sudden resolution of Russia to give a constitution and parliamentary institutions to the whole empire, was a part of a grand scheme for operating on the Bourse, invented by Messrs. PEREIRE, of Paris—a scheme which suddenly brought a great rise in the funds, and put millions of francs into their pockets and into the pockets of their friends in all the principal cities of Europe. For, through the agency of these friends, the news was published all over the continent at the same time, and as the news was exactly of that kind which Russia did not care to take the pains to correct, and which the other Governments hoped was true, because it would let them cheaply out of their quarrel with Russia, it went for some days uncontradicted. But the speculators who lost by the operation determine d to have their revenge, and so they managed adroitly to bring about a fall on Saturday last, which enabled them to regain a part of the large sums they had lost. The fall was based on three different items of false news, to wit: The recognition of the South, the death of VICTOR EMANUEL and an accident to the Emperor NAPOLEON at Biarritz. But the first operation was European and colossal in its results, while the second was limited to Paris and fell far short of covering the losses of the "bears" in the first operation.

There is also an interesting secret history about the Congress of Frankfort which is well worth relating. During the sitting of this Congress, FRANCIS JOSEPH convened a secret meeting of all the Catholic Sovereigns of the Congress, and proposed to them a league for going to the aid of the Pope—that is to say, a scheme for attempting the restoration of the Grand Dukes in Italy and of the Papal territory. But one of these Catholic Princes, it seems, who sympathized with Prussia, became alarmed, and thought it his duty, on account of his political relations with Prussia, to divulge the secret to King WILLIAM. The King, in turn, was astonished and alarmed, and at once communicated the fact to NAPOLEON, in order to obtain his advice on the subject. This incident then established more near relations between Prussia and France, and led to other discussions in regard to Poland and Austria's attempt at leading Germany away from Prussia, which brought about a sort of understanding between the two countries on these various questions. And thus is explained the report which gained credence a fortnight ago that France and Prussia had formed an alliance, and which naturally produced so much astonishment.

But the fact is in regard to Poland, that Russia still maintains her position of doing what she thinks right without the interference of any third parties; in other words, that it is an interior and not an exterior question, and that now nothing can be done for Poland, if France were so disposed, before next Spring. The French dispatch to the Russian Government is published this morning. Those of Russia and England were published yesterday, and although the French dispatch is sharper in tone than the other two, it terminates like the other two by throwing the responsibility of whatever grave events may ensue in Poland on Russia—a responsibility which Russia has thus far cheerfully accepted and seems disposed to accept in the future. Prince GORTSCHAKOFF'S reply will perhaps be published to-morrow, and then we will see better to the end of this question.

Our secession friends assert, that the two steamers which ran into Charleston, during the first days of the bombardment, carried in each a gun cast in England, capable of throwing a 700-pound ball. They therefore argue that the iron-clads can never approach Charleston near enough to bombard the place.

Senator GWIN, of California, has just arrived here in twenty days from Wilmington, N. C. He had not heard from his family in a long time; did not know where they were, and was astonished and delighted to find them at the Grand Hotel in this city. He also found at the same hotel many of his old Washington acquaintances: Gov. MOREHEAD, of Kentucky, Mr. CORCORAN, of Washington, Gov. LATHAM, of California, and others.

The corner-stone of a second American Chapel has just been laid in Paris, by the congregation which now meets in the Rue de la Paix, under the ministration of Rev. WM. O. LAMSON. The church is to be built in the Rue Bayard, on the Champs Elysées, and will be called the American Protestant Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity. The money is all subscribed, thanks to the energy and popularity of the pastor, and the work will be proceeded with at once. Mr. LAMSON was assisted on this interesting occasion, by Rev. Dr. CASWELL, Prebendary of Salisbury, in England; Rev. Dr. LITTLEJOHN, of the Diocese of New-York, and Rev. Dr. CLARKSON, of the Diocese of Illinois. MALAKOFF.

THE POLISH INSURRECTION

CRACOW, Saturday, Sept. 19.

The insurgent leaders SZUMLANSKI and MALUSIEVICZ, defeated the enemy on the 13th at Lutomierz, in the woywodeship of Kalisz.

A sanguinary engagement took place on the 16th at Zask.

CHMIELINSKI'S detachment skirmished with the Russians on the 17th and 18th in the woywodeship of Cracow.

WARSAW, Tuesday, Sept. 15.

The present Viceroy, Gen. BERG, seems to have adopted the principle of carrying out with energy whatever the National Government forbids, in so far as its accomplishment does not depend upon the will of the Poles in fear of terrorism, or is at all practicable by military means. The threatened requisition of forage, prohibited by the National Government, will, therefore, undoubtedly be complied with, not only because it is really seriously meant, but also because this measure is regarded by the landed proprietors as the salvation of their property out of the clutches of the insurgents. By this means they get rid of their taxes and receive some hard cash from the legitimate Government. Again—the revolutionary government forbade the demolition of a number of houses in the Cracow suburb, ordered last year, and up to the present time no laborers have been found daring enough to take part in the work. Now it is being executed by sappers and miners;—and, the first step being taken, people will soon be found willing to earn a trifle before Winter, when the building trade is at a stand-still.

Preparations are being made in all directions for the general house-search announced for the 16th, and it appears again that measures seriously meant are energetically carried out. Whether the Russian Government will gain its object of making discoveries, after announcing it a week in advance, is another question. Guilty consciences will probably have taken their precautions or have quitted Warsaw. The vexations and troubles in this case will fall, as usual, to the lot of the more peaceable inhabitants. Unanimity of opinion does not exist in high administrative circles, as the Russian military chief, Gen. KORFF, accustomed to the milder measures of the Grand Duke CONSTANTINE, is said to have vehemently opposed the harsher steps of Gen. BERG. Thus Gen. KORFF has always shown himself very kindly disposed toward Polish ladies, granting them, upon various occasions, leave to visit their relatives confined in the citadel, through which leniency, it is said, prisoners have sometimes escaped in female clothes. All this is now forbidden by Gen. BERG, and much discontent is the result.

The troops throughout the city have been kept in ceaseless motion since yesterday. The taxes are being collected by military execution, which means that large or small detachments of soldiers are quartered in the house of the recusant, where they remain at his expense until he produces a magistrate's certificate that his taxes have been duly paid. Trade-people have had their shops closed, and a few soldiers left upon the premises, who retain possession until the receipts are produced, when the shop is permitted to be opened again. Up to the present time, two cases only are known in which shopkeepers (both foreigners) have persisted in refusing to pay their arrears, in spite of their shops being closed and having troops quartered upon them.

The Dziennick Powszechny of to-day announces that orders of high distinction have been conferred upon MOURAVIEF, AUNEUKOFF and KRYZANOWSKI. The last named was the principal cause of the lamentable turn the movement in this capital took in 1861. At that time he endeavored to apply terrorism, but used the weapon against peaceful citizens, the principal of whom were confined in the citadel and transported, and the young Demagone party thereby deprived of its counter-balance. The proceedings of KRYANOWSKI crushed opposition for the time, but gave a most powerful impulse to the revolution.

Another political assassination took place yesterday, the victim being a highly placed police officer, named BAANOWSKI. A man in police dress called at his house at 7 in the evening, ostensibly upon official business, and stabbed him with a polgnard. BAANOWSKI'S wife endeavored to detain the murderer, but released him upon receiving a couple of wounds in the hand. The assassin escaped.

RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBURG, Saturday, Sept. 19.

The Journal de St. Petersburg of to-day announces that the Finnish Diet was opened yesterday, with a speech from the Emperor. Among other subjects the Imperial speech stated that the revenue of the Grand Duchy had always sufficed to cover current expenses, and will still be sufficient to pay off the debt contracted for the expenses of constructing the last railway. No new loan will be undertaken without the consent of the Diet, except in case of a sudden invasion, or some other unforeseen misfortune. The Emperor was desirous of remedying the imperfections of the fundamental laws. The speech concludes as follows: "I shall soon cause to be laid before the Diet bills granting more extended privileges upon the assessment of taxes, and the right of making motions, reserving to myself the initiative in fundamental changes."

THE SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN QUESTION.

FRANKFORT, Tuesday, Sept. 19.

At the sitting of the Federal Diet to-day the United Committees upon the Holstein question reported in favor of Federal execution being carried out in that province. The Committees recommend taking possession of the administration of the entire Duchy, and the entry of 6,000 Hanoverian and Saxon troops, Austria and Prussia furnishing the reserve. The vote of the Diet upon the report will be taken on the 1st of October.

DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENCE ON POLISH AFFAIRS.

THE FRENCH NOTE TO PRINCE GORTSCHAKOFF.

We make the following extracts from the dispatch addressed by the French Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. DROUYN DE L'HUYS, to the French Ambassador at St. Petersburgh, in reference to the Polish question now engaging so seriously the attention of the three Western Powers in their negotiations with Russia.

The document has been published only since the 18th inst. It opens under date of August 3, with a statement of the bases upon which the three Powers had commenced their efforts "to establish tranquility on a lasting foundation, and preventing the return of pesturbations which have never occurred without disturbing the public mind of Europe, and endangering the existence of peace."

These efforts the French Government regrets to see misappreciated by the Czar, and it proceeds at once to argue against the Russian denial that the Polish question is a European and not a local one. We quote:

"The Polish question, according to Prince GORTSCHAKOFF, is only European from its origin and revolutionary tendencies, and the present events are solely the work of cosmopolitan demagogues. Our time has seen societies agitated by too many different movements to confound under the same designation the desperate efforts of a people defending its nationality and the wild aspirations of wrong-headed men attacking the very bases of social order. The agitation in Poland springs from causes which have nothing factitious or accidental. They are the result of a state of affairs which commenced nearly a century ago, and which has, more than any other, perhaps, contributed to produce and perpetuate revolution in Europe. The insurrection which we now witness was announced by evident symptoms, and provoked by a measure which, in the existing state of men's minds, could not fail to have the most disastrous consequences. Poland responded to it by an appeal, not to revolutionary passions, but to the noblest sentiments of the human heart, to ideas of justice, patriotism and religion. Is it not a fact of indisputable notoriety that the whole Polish nation, each and every class, according to its means, actively and passively, according to place and circumstances, has joined the insurrection body and soul?

"What is, in presence of such a manifestation, the agitation got up by a few emigrant committees? Consequently the Cabinets have not been mistaken as to the real character of the insurrection. They have pointed out its meaning to the Court of Russia. In the French Chambers, in the English Parliament, and in the Austrian Reichsrath, the public opinion of the three countries has made itself heard by its most accredited organs, to encourage the Governments to preserve in the course on which they had entered. Everywhere in Europe where deliberative assemblies exist, the same language has been heard. In addition to the constitutional Powers free and spontaneous demonstrations have everywhere proved the sincerity of the public impressions, the unanimity of which was daily recorded by the press. Constrained by the feeling of their responsibility to more reserve and circumspection almost all the Cabinets, from the Court of Rome to the Ottoman Porte, and from Stockholm to Lisbon, have consigned in dispatches, the tenor of which the Russian Government is acquainted with, the expression of opinions conformable to those of which the three courts have made themselves more particularly the interpreters."

Again:

"The signature of the general act of Vienna was, it is true, preceded by the conclusion of special treaties between the three Powers on the borders of Poland; but those treaties had been prepared by long and laborious negotiations, the real European character of which cannot be misunderstood. The Congress, moreover, did not establish so absolute a distinction as the Cabinet of St. Petersburgh supposes between the general stipulations and the private arrangements. If the one is textually introduced into the final act, the others are expressly annexed to it. The task of the Powers, moreover, is not to revise the details of Administrative regulations, and to put them in harmony with the progress of the day. The general principles themselves are under consideration, and the object of the Cabinets is to restore peace to Poland, either by determining the proper application of the stipulations of Vienna, or by suggesting the modifications which may be made, in order the better to satisfy the necessities of the future. The Powers who signed the acts of the Congress are therefore competent to deliberate, in concert with Russia, on the question of public right and of general interest, which the Polish insurrection places in some measure on the order of the day."

The penultimate paragraph of the disdatch is couched in an unmistakable tone of warning:

"It remains at the same time to the Government of the Emperor to discharge an imperative duty; it is to call His Excellency's most serious attention to the gravity of the situation, and the responsibility which it imposes upon Russia.

"France, Austria and Great Britain have pointed out the urgent necessity of putting an end to a deplorable state of things, which is full of danger to Europe. They have at the same time indicated the means which, in their opinion, ought to be employed to arrive at this termination, and they have offered their coöperation in order to attain it with more certainty. If Russia does not perform all that depends upon her to further the moderate and conciliatory views of the three Powers, if she does not enter upon the path which is opened to her by friendly counsels, she makes herself responsible for the serious consequences which the prolongation of the troubles of Poland may produce.

REPLY OF RUSSIA TO THE LAST ENGLISH NOTE.

The following dispatch has been communicated to Earl RUSSELL by the Russian Ambassador in London:

TSARKOE-SELO, Aug. 26—Sept. 7, 1863.

Lord NAPIER has, by order of the Government, communicated to me a dispatch from Lord RUSSELL, of which your Excellency will find a copy hereunto annexed.

It is an answer to my dispatch of the 1st—13th of July last—which you were invited to communicate to the principal Secretary of State of Her Britannic Majesty.

The overtures which we had set forth in that document were dictated to us by the desire to arrive at an understanding.

In receiving the observations which they have suggested to Lord RUSSEL with the attention which we always pay to the opinions of her Britannic Majesty's government, we cannot but regret that we must come to the conclusion that we have not obtained the end which we had proposed to ourselves.

From the moment that this discussion could only end in establishing and in confirming the divergence of our views, it would be too contrary for our conciliatory disposition for us to seek to prolong it; and we believe that in this we are not acting at variance with the sentiments of the principal Secretary of State of her Britannic Majesty.

We prefer to fix our attention only upon the essential points of his despatches, upon which we find ourselves agreed, at least in intention.

Her Britannic Majesty's Government desire to promptly reëstablish in the kingdom of Poland a state of things which shall restore tranquility to that country, repose to Europe and security to the relations of the Cabinets.

We entirely share in this desire, and all that can depend upon us shall be done to realize it.

Our august master continues to be animated by the most benevolent intentions toward Poland, and by the most conciliatory toward all foreign Powers. To provide for the welfare of his subjects of all races and of every religious conviction, is an obligation which his Imperial Majesty has accepted before God, his conscience and his people. The Emperor devotes all his solicitude to the fulfilment of that obligation.

As regards the responsibility which may be assumed by his Majesty in his international relations, those relations are regulated by public right. The violation of those fundamental principles can alone involve responsibility. Our august master has constantly respected and observed those principles with regard to other States. His Majesty has the right to expect and to claim the same respect on the part of the other Powers.

You will be pleased to read and give a copy of this dispatch to the principal Secretary of State of her Britannic Majesty. Receive, &c.

THE MEXICAN CROWN.

ITS PROBABLE REFUSAL BY MAXIMILIAN.

The Mexican deputation bearing to Archduke MAX the official tender of the Crown had arrived at Nantes and would soon start for Vienna. In spite of semi-official assurances, the general belief in Paris was that the Archduke would not accept it, though it was not impossible that he may disguise his refusal by requiring the performance of certain impracticable conditions.

It is remarked that reinforcements are being sent to Mexico. Under the circumstances this is looked upon not unnaturally as tending to confirm the rumored alliance between the new Empire and the Confederate Republic.

From the Ost-Deutsch Post, of Vienna, Sept. 16.

The Mexican deputation will arrive in the course of next week at Miramare. One of the most singular questions which has ever been propounded to Austria will therefore be decided in a few days. The history of the Imperial house presents no analogous case. An Archduke of Austria, the nearest agnate of the reigning sovereign, is called upon to abandon his native land, in which, according to the domestic regulations of the Imperial family, he possesses important rights and has great duties to fulfill, for the purpose of ascending, in a distant country, a throne which has yet to be founded, which has been won by foreign arms, and to the support of which Austria, with all her military power, cannot in any way contribute. It is an absolute fact that the Emperor of the French is the only serious protector of that throne. Nor is it less certain that, whatever prince may occupy it, he will be obliged to govern, to a certain extent, in conformity with French interests. Protected by a French garrison and deriving his resources from a French loan, what a position for a new emperor! From all these considerations it is probable—we wish we could say it is certain—that the Mexican deputation will not succeed in persuading an Austrain Prince to go to Mexico.

THE PROPOSED LOAN.

Paris (Sept. 17.) Correspondence of the Independance of Brussels.

The fact of a loan for Mexico is confirmed, but I am assured that M. FOULD has obtained the assurance from the French Cabinet at the last council that it should not be guaranteed by France. That guarantee is, on the contrary, required by the Archduke MAXIMILIAN, who sees in the financial countersign of France a security for the continuance of her military support. The French Minister of Finance also insisted that the war indemnity which is to be paid by Mexico should be taken from the first proceeds of the loan—an arrangement which has not been quite accepted by the Archduke. Those differences, although trifling, and capable of easy settlement, show that the affair of the establishment of a monarchy in Mexico must not be considered as terminated.

England, on her side, wishes for nothing better than to see Mexico support herself from her own resources, and be able at a given time to escape from French influence. She has, therefore, favored the future loan, and recommended it to the bankers both in London and at Vienna. Her adhesion to the elevation of the Austrian Archduke as Emperor is not doubtful, and some have gone so far as to say that a proposition has been made that if he could no longer rely on a French corps of occupation, he might at his own expense enroll 6,000 Irish Catholics.

AMERICAN TOPICS.

WHY MASON, THE REBEL ENVOY, SHOULD BE WITHDRAWN FROM GREAT BRITAIN.

Richmond (Aug. 15) Correspondence of the London Index, rebel organ.

You may depend upon it that the Government has fully determined upon the step of soon withdrawing its representatives from England, and that, unless a change occurs in the present hostile attitude of the British Ministry toward us, the order of recall will go out before Congress meets in December. This measure arises from no unfriendly feeling toward the people of England, whose sympathy, as evinced on the death of Stonewall JACKSON and in the tone of their respectable Presses, is fully appreciated here. It was strongly urged upon the Administration as a necessary vindication of self-respect, from the moment it became known, through the published diplomatic correspondence, that Earl Russell, in compliance with the threat of Mr. Adams, had engaged himself to hold no intercourse, even though unofficial, with our Commissioner, and, as appeared from his subsequent refusal of an interview on the most urgent occasions, was determined to adhere to this pledge, and construe it in the most literal manner. This conduct of the British Foreign Secretary, so insulting to our self-respect as a nation, is in striking contrast with that pursued by the French Government. Not only has Mr. SLIDELL always had free access to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, even when M. THOUVENEL was Minister, who has never been suspected of undue partiality toward us, but he has had repeated interviews with the Emperor himself. Mr. DAYTON protested in Paris just as Mr. ADAMS did in London. We are more surprised than angry that English pride should permit a Minister of State to be deterred by any threats whatever, but least of all by Yankee threats, from extending to our representative those ordinary courtesies which do not commit the Government, and which are not refused even to private bearers of important communications. As we cannot ascribe Earl RUSSELL'S course to fear of the Yankees, we can only construe it as a studied insult; and if Mr. MASON is once withdrawn, however sincerely anxious we are to have amicable relations with your country, we shall not be the first—at least under your present administration—to renew diplomatic intercourse. If you have anything to say to us thereafter, you will have to send to Richmond.

WILL JEFF. DAVIS BE ABLE TO NEGOTIATE ANOTHER LOAN?

Paris (Sept. 18) Correspondence of the London Post.

It is reported in Paris that the agents of the Confederate Government are again at work here in order to raise a new loan, or rather to augment the figures of the old debt. The French Government will certainly not throw any difficulty in the way of the Southerners. The public, however, have lost a little of their faith in the power of the South to sustain the exhausting process which seems to be the policy of the North.

THE WAR IN KENTUCKY.

Scouting near Paris, Ky.—Rebel Conscripts put to Flight.

Dispatch to the Republican.

COLUMBUS, Thursday, Oct. 1.

A joint expedition left Paducah and Union City a few days ago, and scouted in the neighborhood of Paris, Tenn., and along the Tennessee River. The force consisted of six companies of the One Hundred and Eleventh Illinois and a detachment of the Fifteenth Kentucky cavalry, one piece of artillery of the Ninth Indiana Battery, four companies of the One Hundred and First Illinois, and a detachment of the Fourth Missouri cavalry, the whole commanded by Capt. MARTIN.

The forces formed a junction near Murray, Ky.; from thence a detachment under Lieut.-Col BLACK, One Hundred and Eleventh Illinois, proceeded east as far as the Tennessee River. In the neighborhood of Paris he came upon the rebel Col. BELL, with 300 conscripts, who were chased across the river. The balance of the expedition went south, and encountered NEWCOME and FAULKNER'S commands, our advance firing upon the enemy and putting them to flight. They appeared at Dresden shortly afterwards, 230 strong.

The expedition returned to Union City without loss, having captured some prisoners, a large number of horses and other property.

Last Saturday a small detachment of the Twenty-fourth Missouri mounted infantry, and Fourth Missouri cavalry, were fired upon near Reel Foot Lake by FARRAR'S gang of guerrillas. The rebels fired from behind an embankment, mortally wounding one of the Fourth. Our forces returned the fire, killing some of the guerrillas.

Gen. SMITH is determined to drive the guerrillas out of the district.

Furloughs, heretofore granted at the rate of five per cent. to each regiment, have been suspended until further orders.

The trial of Mr. YOCUM, formerly Superintendent of Contrabands at Cairo, for selling negroes into Slavery, is set for the 20th of October. Rich developments are promised, that will implicate others equally guilty, among them Chaplain RODGERS, now lecturing in the North, depicting the sorrows of the poor Africans and soliciting alms for their relief.

THE WAR IN ARKANSAS.

A Lively Little Fight—Whereabouts of Noted Rebels in the Southwest.

Dispatch to the Missouri Democrat.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 29—12 midnight.

On the 27th inst., Capt. PARKER, First Arkansas infantry, with seventy-five men, were attacked near Moffat's store, in Franklin county, Arkansas, by SHELBY'S rebel cavalry. Our loss was two killed, two wounded and fifteen prisoners. The rebel loss was five killed and twenty wounded—among the latter, SHELBY, their commander. Col. CLOVER is supposed to be between Darnell and this place, coming this way. He communicated with Little Rock.

COOPER, the rebel commander, is at Johnson's Station, on the overland mail route. BARKHEAD is at Ridley Station. PRICE is at Arkadelphia.

A large number of deserters are coming in daily from the rebel commands. Deserters from PRICE report a fight at Monroe, La., with KIRBY SMITH, who is moving his stores and heavy ordnance to Marshall, Texas. SHELBY crossed to the north side of the Arkansas river at Roseville, yesterday, with eight hundred men and four pieces of artillery.

NEWS FROM VICKSBURGH.

A Lot of Rebels Captured—General Grant's Health—Condition of the Army.

Dispatch to the Missouri Democrat.

VICKSBURGH, Thursday, Sept. 24,
Vid CAIRO, Thursday, Oct. 1.

Gen. OSTERHAUS has just returned from Cayuga Post-office, where he surprised a hopeful lot of rebels, among whom was a Captain, who had been doing a good business stealing negroes and mules from our lines on the Big Black. Another Captain was among the lot who had a gang of blood hounds, which he used in hunting conscripts. Several persons have been terribly torn by these beasts while fleeing from the rebel minions. A number of valuable horses were captured, and much information gained from a mail found in the Post-office at Cayuga.

Gen. GRANT is still improving.

Excepting the prevalence of chills and fevers, the health of the army is very good. The nights are cool, but the days are hot and sultry. No news of importance from below.

GEN. ROSECRANS' ARMY

Its Position Perfectly Secure, and the Prospect Bright.

Recovery of Wounded bv Flag of Truce.

The Enemy Gets the Worst in Skirmishing.

LONGSTREET'S CORPS UTTERLY ROUTED.

Our Army Well Supplied and in Fine Condition.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Saturday, Oct. 3.

Such news from ROSECRANS has been received as should dismiss all anxiety for his welfare, and quiet all care for our military supremacy in the South. He is fully equal to his situation.

REPORTS FROM THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

ARMY OF THE CUMBERLAND, Saturday, Oct. 3.

The present and future prospect of success for this army is not only brightning but at this time is really good. If the enemy now makes an attack, even in very heavy force, he will in all probability be badly defeated. Each day's delay but make our commanders more confident of holding their position. There is no cause for alarm in the matter of flank movements.

The flag of truce sent out by Gen. ROSECRANS was recognized. Our ambulances were driven to the enemy's lines, there our drivers got off, when those appointed by the enemy took the ambulances within their lines. In a short time the ambulances returned with some portion of our wounded. They, as a generality, are very seriously injured.

The whole of Chattanooga is now a hospital, hardly a house but contains the unfortunate.

The enemy still continues in sight. Skirmishing is kept up. The enemy, each time he presses a little too hard, gets much the worst of it.

CINCINNATI, Saturday, Oct. 3.

The Commercial has advices from Chattanooga up to Saturday last. It was estimated at headquarters that the loss in the battle of Chicamauga was, in killed, 1,800; wounded, 9,500; prisoners, 2,500; total, 13,800.

It was the opinion that if the right wing had held its own, the result would have been a decisive Union victory.

The success of Gen. THOMAS on the left was much greater than has been represented in any published account of the battle. THOMAS routed LONGSTREET'S corps, and was in a condition to pursue the enemy, and would have done so had not the right wing been disorganized.

No surprise is felt in the army that the enemy did not resume the attack. Their loss is believed to be 20,000.

Our army is in superb fighting trim, compact in organization, well supplied with provisions and ammunition, and full of confidence.

CINCINNATI, Sunday, Oct. 4.

A special dispatch to the Commercial, dated Chattanooga, Sept. 30, says:

Two hundred ambulances, sent within the enemy's lines under flag of truce, brought in over 500 of our wounded. While they were in the enemy's hands they had nothing to eat but corn bread. The rebels treated them very kindly, expressing their regrets that they could not provide better food. They refuse to permit the bodies of wounded or deceased officers to be removed. The enemy holds fifty-two of our surgeons prisoners of war. Our ambulances returned to the rebel lines the wounded rebels who fell into our hands.

Both armies are busy fortifying. The pickets are within a stone's throw of each other.

It is asserted that the Press report of the battle causes considerable indignation among the troops. The statement that REYNOLDS' and BRANNON'S divisions were thrown into disorder is incorrect. I learn from Gen. THOMAS that the obstinate bravery of these commands of the army insured its safety. Our wounded are well cared for and comfortably situated.

LOUISVILLE, Friday, Oct. 2.

A Chattanooga dispatch of the 28th ult., delayed until this morning, reports that Gen. WHITAKER received a severe flesh wound in the engagement of the 20th, but still commands his brigade. His loss is heavy, being about 950 killed, wounded and missing—the latter very small. All his Staff except one were killed or wounded. His brigade consisted of the Ninety-fifth and One Hundred and Fifteenth Illinois, Second Michigan and Eighty-eighth Ohio, aggregating about 2,800 men, who fought with terrific energy and effect from 1 P. M. till the next night, and aided by the Second brigade of Gen. SHERIDAN'S division, beat back three divisions with great slaughter.

Lieut.-Cols. CLARK, of the Ninety-sixth Indiana, and KENNAN, of the One Hundred and Fifteenth, were killed. Col. LEFORS, of STEADMAN'S division, GRANGER'S corps, who made the attack on the enemy's right wing on the 20th, was killed. Col. SANBORN was wounded.

REBEL REPORTS FROM CHATTANOOGA AND CHARLESTON.

FORTRESS MONROE, Sunday, Oct. 4.

The Richmond Examiner of the 3d instant has been received. It contains the following dispatches:

ATLANTA, Wednesday, Sept. 30.

Gen. BRAGG has consented to exchange wounded with Gen. ROSECRANS.

Affairs are unchanged at Chattanooga. Gen. ROSECRANS receives his supplies by wagon trains from Stevenson. The rumors that ROSECRANS' supplies were cut off are not credited.

ROSECRANS is confined to his works around Chattanooga, our lines extending to the river above and below him. His defences are strong, and thought to be so superior that no assault will be made.

CHARLESTON, Friday, Oct. 2.

Heavy firing was kept up during last night. The enemy's movements on Morris Island indicate permanent, more than immediate, operations. Two monitors are kept close to the island, doing picket duty.

There has been but little firing to-day.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Sunday, Oct. 4.

THE STATE GOVERNMENT OF VIRGINIA.

The formation of the State Government of Virginia is now complete. The capital is temporarily established at Alexandria. The following are the names of the State officers: FRANCIS H. PIERPONT, Governor; L. P. C. Cowper, Lieutenant-Governor; L. A. Hagans, Secretary of State; G. P. Smith, Treasurer; L. W. Webb, Auditor; F. E. Foster, Adjutant-General; P. R. Bowden, Attorney-General.

CONFISCATED PROPERTY IN ALEXANDRIA.

The advertisements of rebel property, under the Confiscation act, are daily on the increase in Alexandria. The loyal people there are exceedingly fearful lest some of the most deserving of the penalty may have their property protected by flimsy transfers.

ORGANIZATION AGAINST GUERILLAS.

The people of London County are becoming aroused to the necessity of protecting themselves against guerrillas. Measures are in progress among them, and will also soon be taken in other districts adjacent, for efficient organization to this end.

AFFAIRS IN EAST TENNESSEE.

Dispersion of Guerrilla Bands—The Feeling About Rosecrans' Army—Arrival of Fresh Cavalry Horses.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette.

KNOXVILLE, Monday, Sept. 28, 1863.

Military matters in East Tennessee have been chiefly confined to arming the new regiments, settling negro questions, picking up rebels, looking after deserters, gathering forage, and hunting down bands of the forces once constituting BUCKNER'S Army of Tennessee. I wrote you of Col. FOSTER'S affair with CARTER, wherein he killed six, wounded ten, captured about one hundred and routed the rest. Muttwall JACKSON and Cerro Gordo WILLIAMS still held a portion of the railroad near Carter's Station. A portion of SHACKLEFORD'S cavalry and GILBERT'S infantry were dispatched to whip, capture or disperse them. They came upon their pickets on Monday, when brisk skirmishing ensued, and was continued all day, terminating with the retreat of the rebels into their earthworks. On Monday the fight was continued with artillery, and arrangements were about completed to insure their capture, but during the night they took to their heels. Their capture might still have been achieved, but orders to desist were received by our troops, who very unwillingly abandoned the pursuit. The rebels, though getting themselves out of harm's way as rapidly as possible, are still at large. They left seventeen dead on the field, and their wounded is said to be seventy. We captured 250; 122 were sent in, and the rest, claiming to be conscripts, were paroled and dismissed, to the great dissatisfaction of our Ohio boys, who think they ought to be paroled and sent North, to assist in putting in the Fall crops. There is plenty of work and good pay. Many of the conscripts would have gladly accepted the chance, whereas they will now be out of work, and doubtless many will be tempted or forced into the rebel ranks again.

Deserters come in daily from all quarters, and all confirm the report of dis couragement and dissatisfaction prevalent in BRAGG'S army. All pray for peace at any price, and not a few curse their leaders as the cause of the war and all their subsequent misfortunes.

The rebels appear to be generally aware of all that is going on, and their faces are excellent thermometers of their good or ill success. On Sunday they were jubilant. On inquiry, I learned that the grapevine had brought news that ROSECRANS had been driven back and whipped, losing 12,000 prisoners. Later in the day the affair was reduced to a drawn battle and 2,000 prisoners. On Monday their lengthened faces foreshadowed the report that ROSECRANS had whipped the rebels and captured 12,000 prisoners. To-day their facial longitude was increased by news of still further successes of our arms and the capture of three thousand more rebels, all of which, though we devoutly hope, we do not know. The army of Ohio is standing to arms, ready and anxious to participate, and no one would be surprised at marching orders any moment. BEAN'S and WOLFORD'S cavalry are close on Rosecrans' left, and are skirmishing daily with FORREST. Of BRAGG'S right, not knowing the situation at Chattanooga, we can only wonder at our supineness in such proximity to great events. The rebels have taught us the vast importance of crushing BRAGG, by the expression of hope built upon his success; the anxiety and superhuman efforts to reinforce him, and absolute despair with which they contemplate the possibility of his defeat. It is impossible to render such a desirable contingency too certain, hence we marvel at the placidity of an immense army, almost within the sound of his guns. A Major-General of a Department is not expected to engage in battle, except into that of another, except upon great necessity, and it is possible the emergency may not exist. The fame gathered by BURNSIDE by the peaceful occupation of East Tennessee, thanks to the superior badness of the rebel strategy, was very cheaply obtained, and he does not impress one with the idea that he would stand upon a point of ambition or etiquette, if danger was impending—so we rest calmly, hoping for the best. Trains are constant and food and forage is now plenty.

Three thousand horses arrived to-day, and our jaded cavalry and artillery will undergo a refit, very much needed, as on the late expeditions many of the cavalry and artillery were using mules. The Provost-Marshal's business just now is the most onerous and vexatious of any branch of the service. The selling of affairs between the rebels and loyalists, confiscation of property and abuses arising therefrom, the vexations of the nigger question and guessing the status of doubtful people, render the position anything but a bed of roses. The abuses are numerous and disgraceful, and but I am assured they will subside, I would point them out to public censure. The authorities try to do right, but between cruelty and weakly lenience there is a wonderfully delicate distinction and both are to be avoided.

INTERESTING FROM KANSAS.

Kansas to be a Separate Department—Gen. McNeil Offered the Command—Removal of Gen. Ewing—Gen. Blunt Said to be Placed Under Arrest and Ordered to St. Louis.

Dispatch to the Missouri Democrat.

LEAVENWORTH, Thursday, Oct. 1.

My information as to the change in the Department of the Missouri, and the creation of a separate military district out of Kansas, has been verified by undoubted news received from Washington this evening. Kansas is now a separate department. The command was tendered Gens. HUNTER and CURTIS, both of whom refused

AMUSEMENTS.

The regular Fall season of Italian Opera commences to-night, under the able direction of Mr. MAX MARETZEK. A comparatively unknown opera will be revived for the occasion—"Roberto Devereux"—receiving from the management the full honors of new scenery and costumes and a distribution which we are certain cannot be greatly exceeded in any opera house of the world. It would be difficult to find two rôles that are more admirably adapted to the great powers of Mme. MEDORI and Signor MAZZOLENI than those of Elizabeth and Roberto Devereux. Not only does the music suit their voices, but the dramatic opportunities are very great, and will afford ample scope for good acting. The mezzo-soprano and baritone parts are also admirable. Indeed, there are not many operas in the Italian repertoire where the vocal quartette is better provided for. As the argument of the opera may not be remembered by our readers, we condense it for their use. The scene is laid in England during the reign of Queen ELIZABETH, and the story is based on a love episode of the Virgin Queen. Roberto Devereux, Earl of Essex, is her favorite. She has bestowed on him many marks of favor, and given him a ring which is to rescue him from peril, should he ever be overtaken by his enemies. The Earl unhappily does not reciprocate the Queen's tender emotions; he having in early life been fondly attached to the Lady Nora, who afterward, to avoid the royal displeasure, became the wife of Devereux's friend, the Duke of Nottingham. A cabal has attempted the destruction of the Queen's favorite. He is accused of high treason, and summoned from Ireland to be tried by his peers. In an interview with his sovereign, he is charged with coldness and inconstancy, but at the same time is assured of protection. The ring will be his safeguard. Instead of resting satisfied with this state of affairs, the Earl has a scene with his old sweetheart, the Duchess of Nottingham, who advises him to seek safety in flight. This the Earl consents to do, and as a pledge of affection, gives her the ring, confiding to her at the same time the promise attached to it. He receives from the Duchess a scarf, embroidered with her own hands. The Earl does not make good his escape. He is tried, found guilty and sentenced to death. This is not the worst. The fatal scarf has been found in his possession, and conveyed to the Queen, who at once recognizes it as a gage d'amour. The Duke, too, remembers the scarf, and becomes horribly jealous, so that when Elizabeth, in a fit of rage, has signed the Earl's death-warrant, he hurries off revengefully to put it into immediate execution. In this emergency, the Duchess resolves to see the Queen. She produces the ring for the purpose of imploring the royal clemency, and the Queen is overwhelmed with remorse at having signed the fatal warrant. She is eager to remit the sentence, but it is too late. The Duke has hurried up the arrangements for disposing of his rival, and the signal gun from Tower Hill announces that the Earl is no more. The Queen is frantic with despair, declares that the Duke and the Duchess shall lose their heads, and that she will abdicate the throne. Here the opera ends.

The initial performance by Mr. ANSCHUTZ'S new artists called forth a demonstration on the part of the Brooklyn people, of which we barely thought they were capable. Opera, as a rule, comes to grief in a sister city. Managers of the most exemplary temperaments are rendered profane when they speak of their experience there. Mr. ANSCHUTZ has not had much reason to think kindly of the City of Churches. It left him sadly in the lurch last season, but on Wednesday something in the shape of an amende honorable was really made. The Montague-street establishment for once was full. Not only did the directors and the stockholders of the establishment lend importance—and cheapness—to the occasion, but "society," which is ever gorgeous if not always liberal, turned out en masse. Remote and gritty parts of Long Island were profusely represented in the upper regions, and so the stencilled halls of the Academy of Music were literally filled to overflowing. It is only right to add that a large deputation from New-York was also present, and took a somewhat over-critical view of the proceedings. This is explained by the fact that they were for the most part "dead-heads."

The opera selected for the occasion was WEBER'S "Der Freischutz," a work which is certainly not calculated to afford unusual facilities to the principal singers. The vocal music, indeed, is frequently harsh and unsingable even to cultivated artists. But the plan of the work is so excellent, and the gems are so well known, that it is always, in a managerial point of view, a sure card. It is well calculated also to demonstrate the main point of excellence in Mr. ANSCHUTZ'S company—namely, ensemble. In it the orchestra and the chorus are, at least, as important as the main singers—and these, with the able chief, are always of prime consideration. So "Der Freischutz" it was, and a great and perfect success was achieved. The leading rôles were thus distributed: Agathe, Mme. HIMMER-FREDERICI; Anuchen, Mlle. CANISSA; Max, Herr HABELMANN; Caspar, Herr WEINLICH; Ottmo, Herr GRAFF. Of the two last named it is unnecessary to speak, except to say, that they were good. The new members of the troupe posses the twin advantages of youth and fair looks. Their voices are necessarily fresh. Mme. HIMMER-FREDERICI has a full dramatic soprano, which she delivers with openness and ease, and generally with effect. In her scena of the second act she was heard to the best advantage in the slow movement; the very difficult phrases of the second movement being a little unmanageable. We shall draw no nasty conclusions from this, but content ourselves with stating that the lady is certainly a good-looking and pleasing prima-donna. She was received with frequent bursts of applause, and will evidently become a favorite. Mlle. CANISSA is the soubrette of the company, and is very youthful. In any other dress she would also be good-looking, but the costume did not on this occasion assist nature. The lady has a high soprano voice of fair quality, and one which is capable of much execution. Her method is rather close, and from this cause she is by no means capable of doing full justice to her natural powers. Such a fault Mr. ANSCHUTZ will speedily remedy, and we may expect to find in Mlle. CANISSA a charming and vivacious singer. Herr HABELMANN, the tenor, has a really fine voice, a handsome, manly presence, and excellent taste. His success was complete and merited. He is so much better than any German tenor we have had here that comparisons are entirely out of the question. The audience appreciated this fact, and literally overwhelmed the gentleman with applause.

Mr. ANSCHUTZ'S orchestra and chorus were in excellent order, and the performance as a whole was completely creditable and successful. It is a pity that it cannot be repeated. This, however, is impossible, as the company appears in Baltimore to-night. We must wait until the regular season of German Opera opens at the Academy of Music.

Mlle. VESTVALI'S threat of playing in the English language was fulfilled on Tuesday last, and the English language got decidedly the worst of it. A piece called "Games, or the Jewish Mother," was produced for the occasion. Before passing to the ungrateful task of speaking of the debutante, we take much pleasure in stating that the management did all that was possible for play and players. The scenery and costumes were excellent, and the minor characters were generally well sustained. The force of bad example, however, was too much for two ladies whose melo-dramatic lines were cast with the heroine. Both Mrs. CHAPMAN and Mrs. BROUGHAM-ROBERTSON overdid their parts, and made them absurd. The only feature of the entertainment which can be dwelt on with pleasure was the musical one. Music allies itself easily with literary "bosh," and the most beautiful melodies are frequently wedded to the most execrable words. Mr. ROBERT STOEPEL has written some really charming music to "Games." We have neither time, space nor inclination to deal tenderly with a work of absolute mediocrity. What we have to say will be confined mainly to the principal figure in the farce. We should be glad to speak in terms of commendation of Mlle. VESTVALI'S performance of the Jewish Mother if it were possible, but it is not. Her style in opera, even when toned down with orchestra and chorus, is apt to be a little too loud and demonstrative for ordinary tastes; on the dramatic stage it exceeds the bounds of belief. It lacks that mild humanity, that temperance of will, which SHAKESPEARE says should give smoothness even to the torrent, tempest and whirlwind of passion. It is deficient in that moderate yet impelling outward manifestation of restrained inward power which is as distinctly traceable in all true poetry and in all true art, as it is forever absent in that which is false, hollow and meretricious. We know by history what has been accomplished on the stage, and Genius, with its naïve intuitions, is constantly teaching us what yet remains to be accomplished. Mlle. VESTVALI has unhappily possessed herself of the first, but she is not likely to overwhelm us with the second. She represents the KIRBY of the period, not the FECHTER—the past, not the future. Judged even by the lights of that past, she will be found wanting. Her elocution is destitute of the first perception of poetry; her passion is the noisy "rampage" of a small nature chafed into abnormal activity—not the irresistible and fatal surplusage of one that in its uncontrollable fury bears down all that dares oppose it; her movements, being for the most part artificial, are preeminently ungraceful; and her English!—well, it is evidently the last thing she has thought of acquiring. We have spoken of poetry. There is not much of it in the play of "Gamea." The dialogue is a barren and rugged waste of dreary verbiage; a wearisome collocation of inane platitudes. But to the ear that is musical, there is a cadence in the multiplication table; a rhetorical value even in the bald dramatic statements of the translator of "Gamea." Whatever the possibilities of the rôle, (and they are small enough,) they are missed by Mlle. VESTVALI. The groundlings yelled, and the judicious grieved, not because the lady uttered her lines badly and with an accent that should be inadmissible on the stage, but because in doing so she resorted to rant, and to every clap-trap device that has ever been known to a barn. Her action on the stage cannot be described in any words of moderation, or in any terms of courtesy, and we prefer, therefore, not to speak of it at all. Criticism has been frequently beggared by triumphant mediocrity, but—this much we must say—it is time for it utterly to perish if such exhibitions are to be tolerated by the public and extolled by the press. We ask the sensible people who may witness the third representation of "Gamea" (for we have reserved this notice in order that we might correct any harshness of judgment by attending the second performance) to put to themselves this question: Would it be possible for any actress, not sheltered with a veil of kindly consideration on the score of foreign birth and accent, to "go on" in the way Mlle. VESTVALI does? We ask them, in the name of Art and of the thousands of painstaking people who live and die for it, to bring the matter in a real and tangible form before the mind's eye; to endeavor to measure its utter absurdity by some well known standard. Imagine, for instance, Miss DAVENPORT, Mrs. BOWERS or Miss BATEMAN, indulging in the extraordinary exaggerations that mark every step, look and gesture of Mlle. VESTVALI. Conceive the possibility of Mrs. HOEY staggering, hopping, jumping, lurching and bolting about the stage of Mr. WALLACK'S theatre in such a character; or take Miss HERON—the most impulsive of our native artists—and try to depict her crawling from the footlights to the rear on one knee, dragging the other behind her in the regular and well approved Bowery-combat style! Would such things be borne patiently? We think not. If they are correct, then all criticism is a mockery, and Hamlet's advice to the players was dictated by a fool. We hear, by the way, that it is the lady's intention to essay the Shakesperian drama. We trust that Mr. WHEATLEY has too much respect for the Bard of Avon, if not for his own theatre, to permit such a profanation.

How much more agreeable is it to turn to an establishment where vulgar pretence has never yet obtained a foothold, where merit is ever recognized, and mediocrity always retires with a damaged front. Would that there were a dozen theatres like Mr. WALLACK'S, for then "Games" and gammon would be alike impossible! Brilliant, yet cosey; thronged, yet comfortable, this charming little establishment opened for the season on Wednesday night. A new play was produced for the occasion; a regular three-decker that could not be handled on the first night, but which, now that it is fairly afloat, will assuredly make a long and splendid run. The weekly papers have all been funny about the duration of the first night's performance. Let us, therefore, be silent on the subject. The fault has been corrected; the play now concludes by 11 o'clock. Mr. LESTER WALLACK is the author of "Rosedale," and is entitled to much credit for the construction of a picturesque and pleasing work. The plot is elaborated with great skill, and the incidents occur in a tolerably natural and progressive manner. Mr. LESTER WALLACK has erred, perhaps, in bringing to a frame-work of melo-drama the dialogue of high comedy. Where a play depends on situation, nothing is absolutely required so much as quickness of action, and we are quite sure, therefore, that although much excellent and even brilliant dialogue may have been cut out since the first night, the piece has been vastly improved by the excision. Of the merit of these situations, perhaps the best proof is found in the fact that the audience remained in their seats until 12½ o'clock on the night of the production of the play. The tableau at the end of the fourth act is one of the most brilliant and vivid doings of the kind we have ever witnessed; and the ball-room scene at the conclusion of the play shows how admirably the stage of Wallack's Theatre can be converted into a wide and magnificent salle when occasion demands it. The scenery throughout is excellent, and the costumes, military appointments, &c., are all that can be desired. The various parts were intrusted to leading members of the company, who on their entrance were received with hearty bursts of applause. We are gratified to state that the two best actresses in New-York—Mrs. HOEY and Miss MARY GANNON—were especially honored. Mrs. SLOAN, (thoroughly admirable in a little bit that would have fallen flat in any other hands,) Miss FANNY MORANT and Mrs. VERNON were exceedingly good. Mr. HOLLAND as an absurd bumpkin, who ventures to fall in love with a fashionable widow, kept the house in a roar, particularly in the ball-room scene. Mr. GILBERT, as the heavy villain of the piece, was quietly ferocious. Mr. H. DALY played an embarrassing rôle with much ease and gentlemanly quietude. Mr. LESTER WALLACK was, as usual, admirable. For the most part he was gorgeous to behold, but in the Gipsy scene the poor fellow shivered in unquestionable rags, and satisfied the friends of dirt that he can play well even in the absence of patent-leather boots and broadcloth. It is here, too, that he shines as a vocalist, and wins an encore in a flash song. As an amusing and exciting drama, and as a vehicle of the best acting that can be witnessed in the City, we strongly recommend the play of "Rosedale."

The announcements at the various places of amusement to-night are as follows: Winter Garden, Mr. EDWIN BOOTH as Richelieu, (one of the finest impersonations on the modern stage;) at Niblo's, Mr. FORREST as Spartacus in the "Gladiator;" at Wallack's, "Rosedale;" at the Park Theatre, (Brooklyn,) a couple of new pieces; at Barnum's Museum, "Edrie the Dane," and at the Alhambra Pavilion a fine equestrian entertainment.

The first rehearsal of the Brooklyn Philharmonic Society takes place on Wednesday next, under the direction of Mr. THEODORE EISFELD, who has been appointed director for the entire season.

Mr. DEMPSTER, whose pleasing ballad entertainments will be well and favorably remembered, has returned to this City, and will give one of his characteristic concerts to-morrow evening at Irving Hall.

Mrs. JOHN WOODS' "Olympic" Theatre will open on Thursday next.

PARK THEATRE, (BROOKLYN.)—During the past week the amusing extravaganza of "Beauty and the Beast" has been played to crowded houses. This week Mr. HARRISON advertises an entire change of bill, with the favorite names of Miss SHAW, Miss IRVING and Messrs. ANDREWS and LENNOX in the cast. The theatre is already firmly established as an institution, and we are glad to record its absolute success.

Miss MARIA BRAINERD will give concerts in Connecticut—her native State—during the present week. She sings this evening at Danbury, Tuesday in Naugatuck; Wednesday in Waterbury, and Thursday in Terryville.

INFANTICIDE.—Officer ESTEVADY, of the Twenty-eighth Precinct, about 10 o'clock on Saturday night, found the body of a female child in the area of No. 626 Washington-street. Coroner WILDEY held an inquest, and the jury rendered a verdict that deceased had been strangled by some person to them unknown. The child was apparently but a few days old at the time of its death.

MONDAY, Oct. 5—A. M.

The Foreign Trade of the past week was something larger than the previous week in the entries of Foreign Goods and the clearances of Domestic Produce; but neither quite up to the corresponding return last October. The actual business in Foreign Dry Goods and General Merchandise shows a partial abatement from the extreme activity through the month of September. The Customs Duties continue on a liberal scale, and the daily demands for Gold to pay into the Customs, together with a moderate export demand, support the price of Gold, notwithstanding the disbursements of the Treasury in Gold on the 1st of October interest on the 7.30 ₩ cent. Treasury Loan. The Customs in the month of September alone, at this port, was over seven millions, and in the whole country about nine and a half millions, thus furnishing in a single month a sufficient sum in Gold and Silver to pay the interest on $150,000,000 Funded Stock for a whole year.

The subscriptions through the past week to the Popular Loan, 5-20 years 6 ₩ cents, of the United States were quite large, averaging in New-York alone nearly a million of dollars per day. An additional Sub-Agency in this City is thus noticed by the Commercial Advertiser of Saturday afternoon. The appointment is no doubt consistent with the wishes of the Secretary of the Treasury to recognize the new National Banks, as useful and appropriate auxiliaries for the distribution of the Popular Loans of the Government:

"During his visit to this City, a few days since, Mr. JAY COOKE, the General Loan Agent of the Treasury for the distribution of the popular 5-20 years 6 ₩ cent. Loan, constituted the First National Bank of New-York, (No. 2½ Wall-street,) one of his sub-agents for the receipt of subscriptions to the Loan. The bank will allow the same abatement to country and City banks and bankers and saving institutions, who desire to keep a supply of the bonds on hand for resale or investment, as the other sub-agents, and will, besides, keep the bonds constantly on hand for immediate delivery, so as to avoid even the present short delay of a few days in sending the subscriptions to Washington for return in bonds. Of course, where applicants prefer inscribed certificates in their own names, in place of bonds or bearer, such certificates will be prepared for them, and in the briefest possible period."

The Associated Banks of New-York have paid into the Treasury an additional installment of the agreed advances of $35,000,000 on 5 ₩ cent. Interest-bearing United States Notes of legal tender. And it is understood they still hold a reserve of about $20,000,000 ordinary legal tender United States Circulation.

The market for Money works steadily at 6 per cent. as the rule. The Stock Exchange Brokers are again increasing the employment of Money, at call, though the loans are more generally distributed than before the temporary breakdown in speculation at the close of August. At the close of last week there was a more decided activity in the orders at the Stock Exchangr Board to buy the Railway and other shares, for the rise, and a larger business of the same speculative nature on the Street. The favorable returns of traffic on most of the Western lines; the heavy movement both Eastward and Westward still going on over the Great New-York lines, and the immense and profitable working of the Anthracite Coal trade, have all more or less favored the upward turn in prices.

The price of Gold varied but little on Saturday. The last price, 143 ₩ cent., and Bills on London 157@157½ ₩ cent. The rate for Money to the Brokers is 6 ₩ cent., as the rule of the Street, with exceptions as high as 7 ₩ cent. and as low as 5 ₩ cent. A number of the leading Stock firms report that deposits are left with them, at call, at 5 ₩ cent. The shipments of Specie amounted to $593,000, and for the whole week to $784,000.

There was a buoyant Railway speculation on the Stock Exchange in the afternoon, as foreshadowed by the firm prices at the early Board. The feeling extended to Canton Land Company, which advanced to 33½ ₩ cent. After the adjournment of the Second Board nearly the whole Share list took a further rise, and at 4 o'clock the following rates were made in comparison with Friday night:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Encouraging reports continue to reach us from Gen. ROSECRANS. A dispatch from the Army of the Cumberland, dated Saturday, states that the present and future prospect of success for the army is not only brightening, but really good, and that if BRAGG attacks, he will most likely be defeated. Every day's delay adds to the strength of our position, and increases the efficiency of our troops, who are now abundantly supplied with provisions and ammunition, and are full of confidence. Additional information makes it no longer a matter of surprise that the shattered battalions of the enemy do not again offer battle. Their losses were far more severe than was at first believed, and the success of the brave Gen. THOMAS on the left was much greater than has been published. He routed LONGSTREET's corps and would have pursued and destroyed it had it not been for the partial demoralization of our own right wing. Our losses are stated by the latest official estimate to have been in killed 1,800, wounded 9,500, and prisoners 2,500. Many of our wounded have recently been recovered under flag of truce. The Washington Star, of Saturday, states that heavy reinforcements for the Army of the Cumberland are rapidly approximating Chattanooga.

The rebels have determined to make a stout resistance against the passage of the Rapidan by the Army of the Potomac. Our special dispatch from Washington states that LEE has strongly fortified his position on the south bank of the Rapidan, and earthworks and rifle pits are constructed at every one of the fords.

Commodore BELL, commanding the West Gulf Blockading Squadron, makes the painful statement that several cases of fever of a malignant type have occurred in the naval fleet anchored before New-Orleans. Four officers had already died, but the malady was not spreading rapidly, and it was hoped that the approaching autumnal frosts would check its further ravage. A few of the cases are said to be well-marked types of yellow fever, but the greater number had assumed the phase of coast fever, a disease scarcely less to be dreaded than the other.

From New-Orleans we have received dates to the 26th ult.—four days later. There had been a brush between our gunboats and the rebel fort at Grant's Pass, near the entrance of Mobile Bay, in which the fort was believed to have been materially damaged, as well as a rebel iron-clad that for a brief time participated in the engagement. The Era publishes a startling story to the effect that JEFF. DAVIS had been plotting for the destructisn of all our steamboats on the Lower Mississippi and Ohio Rivers, by incendiaries. It is asserted that the burning of the steamer Ruth was the first fruits of this scheme.

By an arrival at Fortress Monroe from Charleston Bar we learn that the batteries in process of construction by Gen. GILLMORE were progressing rapidly, in spite of the constant and annoying fire from the rebel batteries, to which our working parties are subjected. A shot or two are occasionally fired at Fort Sumter, but no determined effort has been made to eject the enemy from the ruins. At the proper time the rebels will be required to leave. A single monitor serves to keep Fort Moultrie perfectly quiet.

Gen. GRANT, on the 22d ult., issued an important order, regulating the cotton trade in his Department south of Helena. Actual residents, well disposed to the Government, may bring into any military post on the river, cotton or other Southern products of which they are the bona fide owners, and ship it above or below, for sale on their own account. The concluding section of the order, absolutely drives all cotton speculators out of the Department south of Helena.

The emissaries of JEFF. DAVIS are still engaged in steamboat burning. The last and most shocking case is reported in a dispatch from Cairo of the 3d inst. On Tuesday morning last the steamer Robert Campbell, from St. Louis, bound to Vicksburgh, with troops on board, was fired near Milliken's Bend, and the flames spread so rapidly that the passengers were forced to jump overboard before the boat reached the shore. Twenty-two lives are known to have been lost. A dispatch from St. Louis states that the steamers Chancellor, Forest Queen and Catahoula were also fired yesterday afternoon at the levee of that city, and the last two were utterly destroyed. Several lives are supposed to have been sacrificed.

The special correspondent of the Missouri Republican at Weston characterizes the recently published dispatch from Leavenworth, that Moss was murdering and driving Union men out of Missouri, as an unmitigated falsehood. Loyal men, he says, are only now feeling themselves safe.

The President has issued a proclamation, inviting his fellow-citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea, and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November, next, as a day of thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, for his mercies and goodness, so abundantly vouchsafed to the nation during the current year.

GENERAL NEWS.

It has been decided by the War Department that the item of fare in a sleeping-car is a legitimate charge among the actual necessary expenses of an officer, traveling in the discharge of his duty or under orders, if the journey be prosecuted by night.

The Rev. HENRY WARD BEECHER has returned to England from the Continent. His numerous admirers will be glad to know that he is so far on his homeward way.

Major SIDNEY COOLIDGE, of Boston, reported to have been killed at Chattanooga, is a prisoner, supposed to be wounded. He was second in command of the regulars under Brig.-Gen. JOHN. H. KING.

A correspondent of the Nashville Union reports that Gen. JOE JOHNSTON was badly wounded in the battle of Chickamauga.

Gen SCHENCK, commanding at Baltimore, having obtained a leave of absence, the command has been temporarily assigned to Brig.-Gen. RUFUS H. TYLER.

Gold and Exchange were comparatively steady on Saturday. The Share market strong and active. Money in steady supply. The sales of the Popular Loan, $779,200.

Flour and Wheat were depressed and cheaper on Saturday. Corn and Oats were quite brisk, at firmer prices. Pork was active and buoyant. Lard attracted less attention. Cotton, Sugars, Teas, Rio Coffee, Rice and Whisky were in good request, the latter article closing decidedly higher. A lively business was transacted in Hay, Tallow, Tobacco and Fire Crackers. Wool was very freely purchased, at advancing rates. Limited Freight engagements were effected. There were 585 vessels of all classes in port.

The Unyielding Temper of the Rebel Leaders.

The Virginia House of Delegates unanimously reject a proposition for an inquiry into the peace sentiment in the North. The newly elected Governor of Alabama, who has been represented in some quarters as a reconstructionist, replies to a letter of inquiry on the subject, that "if I had the power, I would build up a wall of fire between Yankeedom and the Confederate States, there to burn for ages." At no time since the beginning of the war has there been a fiercer determination displayed in the rebel counsels to make no terms with the North than now.

The heavy reverses which have fallen on "the Confederacy" within the last few months, and the still heavier ones which apparently impend, have not abated the rebel pretensions one jot. Hard as is the extremity, not the slightest disposition is evinced to lay hold of the peace platforms of the North for deliverance. The calamities of the rebel leaders have only made them, if possible, more defiant and implacable than ever. No reflecting man ever supposed it would prove otherwise. In one of his splendid criticisms upon Paradise Lost, COLERIDGE remarks that "MILTON has marked in his Satan the intense selfishness, the alcohol of egotism, which would rather reign in hell than serve in heaven. It is the character so often seen in little upon the political stage." These Southern politicians are the most complete exemplifications of it, in human flesh and blood, the world has ever seen. Precisely as their original crime was the most wicked in history, so their spirit throughout has exceeded anything ever before known in intensity of selfishness and malignity. "The alcohol of egotism" has literally demented and bedeviled them. Nothing can be more absurd than to imagine that men in this condition are to be won back to duty by soft words. It is morally impossible to conciliate them. As it has been from the beginning, so it is now, and so it will be to the end—the only peace possible between them and us is to let them finish their work of ruin or to crush them. These rebel leaders went into this business with the foregone determination either to destroy or to be destroyed; and that spirit will rule them to the last.

It has been thought by some a strange thing that the Confederate chiefs do so little to further the policy and the success of the Northern Copperheads. The constant assertion of the latter is that reconstruction is possible through negotiation. There is not one of them, not even VALLANDIGHAM himself, who, if he is to be believed, will accept separation. They are all for peace, as they say, as the only salvation of the Union. It is on that ground mainly that they conduct their political campaigns, and work with such untiring zeal to embarrass and thwart the war policy of the Administration. Of course this all inures to the benefit of the rebels. MAURY was perfectly right in writing to the London Times that "all the embarrassments with which the Peace party can surround Mr. LINCOLN, and all the difficulties that it can throw in the way of the War party in the North, operate directly as so much aid and comfort to the South." And yet the rebel chiefs persistently refuse to give, in return, any substantial aid and comfort to the Copperheads. They will neither say nor do anything to add plausibility to the Copperhead assertion that a pacific policy is the true policy against separation. On the contrary, they were never more emphatic than at this very time in asseverating that they will fight to the last and die sooner than consent to a reunion with the North on any terms whatever. They say this with the greatest possible distinctness, when perfectly aware that the elections in the three greatest Northern States—New-York, Pennsylvania and Ohio—are close at hand, and that their friends, the Copperheads, are thoroughly committed to the very policy of conciliation which they so openly repel and flout at. A little diplomatic craft on the part of the rebel leaders, in pretending that they were willing to be conciliated back into the Union, or at least in treating the whole matter as an open question to be disposed of in discussion under an armistice, would be of prodigious service to their sympathizers here in the North. It would supply the greatest lack these Copperheads have felt—solid ground to crawl upon—and thus greatly increase their power for mischief.

Of course it is not principle that prevents the rebel politicians from practicing this duplicity. They have long since made it plain that they care nothing for morals or honor. The real reason, undoubtedly, why they do not pretend to a willingness to be conciliated is that their personal and political fortunes are embarked in the war, and peace with reconstruction, for them, is ruin. They understand full well that their only strength at home lies in a straightout iron policy, which can admit of no paltering. Committed from the outset irrevocably to the object of sectional independence, and conscious that all their personal fortunes hang upon this, they dare not allow it for a moment to be imagined that anything different is possible. Whatever benefit any deception on their part might afford the Northern Copperheads would be more than counterpoised by the misunderstanding and discord that would result from it at home. Therefore they leave our peace men to fight against the war policy of our Government, without any moral support from them. They are always thankful for Copperhead successes when achieved, because those successes are a clog upon our Government, but never because they have any tolerance for the Copperhead idea of reconstruction by negotiation. They are glad enough to avail themselves of the factious] results, without committing themselves at all to the false pretexts through which these results are secured.

But such results are now at an end. The great body of the Northern people have come to realize the superlative folly of imagining that this struggle can be closed by the olive branch. They understand the spirit of the rebel chiefs, and are absolutely certain that peace is impossible until that spirit is made to succumb before resistless force. What the rebel leaders so freely proclaim is just as freely accepted by all true loyal men—that the sword is the only arbiter.

A New and Grand Military Feature in the Present War.

If there be truth in the statement of Gen. LEE, published by the Richmond papers, to the effect that two army corps have been transferred from the Army of the Potomac to reinforce ROSECRANS, the fact presents a striking illustration of the prodigious areas over which the theatre of war is now extended. The distance to be traveled over by troops passing from the Army of the Potomac to the Army of the Cumberland is not less than a thousand miles. The rebels, by the advantage of interior lines, have between their army in Virginia and that in Northern Georgia an interval of but half that distance. The severing of the Virginia and East Tennessee Railroad, however, obliges them, in reinforcing from LEE to BRAGG, to make a great detour by way of Branchville, or by Charleston and Atlanta, which brings the distance to hardly less than eight hundred miles.

The means that makes possible a rapid concentration of troops on points separated by such vast spaces is, of course, the great modern invention of railways—an invention which has wrought a complete revolution in that branch of military art known as "logistics," or the science of moving troops. Indeed, it may be said that we owe to our railways the present salvation of Gen. ROSECRANS' army. For, imagine that we were without this means of rapid transportation, the time in which it would be possible to send reinforcements from the Potomac Army to Chattanooga (at NAPOLEON'S rate of march—twenty-five miles per day)—would be forty days—a period during which the rebels would have ample opportunity to assail ROSECRANS in his crippled condition.

The rebels have made prodigious use of their railroads for transporting troops, (sending even cavalry in this way,) and all their brilliant strokes in massing have been effected by this new method of swift locomotion. The excessive use to which the Southern railroads have been put, the want of rolling mills for railroad iron and of locomotive shops, and the extent of damage which has been inflicted by Union raids, on both their fixed and rolling stock, are causes which have conspired to reduce the Southern railroads to a very dilapidated condition. This is one, and no slight one, of the combination of influences, which is slowly but surely stifling the rebellion in its material parts.

The existence of railroads and their condition are elements which influence also that oft-mooted question of "interior lines." The value of lines is of course to be measured by the facilities they afford for the transfer of troops from one part of the theatre of war to another. Now, considering the comparative condition of the Northern and Southern railroads respectively, although the rebels have between their armies in the East and those in the West the interior and rather the shorter line, yet we are undoubtedly able to move a given number of men from our army in Virginia, to our army in Tennessee, quicker than the rebels can in their case. Our roads are all in prime condition and our rolling stock unlimited, while the Southern roads are deficient in every respect, and trains are prohibited by military order from moving at a quicker rate than ten miles an hour.

Gen. ROSECRANS is dependent exclusively on the railroad connecting him with his base of operations on the Cumberland and Ohio Rivers, (300 miles distant,) for the ability to live where he is. And although the supporting of a large army is a severe strain on the capacities of a single line of railroad, yet we are glad to know that his army is amply supplied with food, forage and ammunition. The position at Chattanooga, beside its strategical advantages, presents also that inestimable advantage, a double line of operations and supplies—namely, the line from Louisville and Nashville to Chattanooga, and the Memphis and Chattanooga Railroad, enabling him to form another base on the Mississippi River. We hope the time will come when the army of Gen. GRANT will be so disposed as to operate by this line, and by a combination with the Army of the Cumberland, crush out, as they can, the armed force of the rebellion in the centre zone.

NATIONAL GROWTH.—The President, in his most admirable proclamation for a National Thanksgiving, enumerates among our national blessings the fact that "Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege and the battle-field," and that "the country, rejoices in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor." This growth in numbers springs, firstly, from the natural increase in the existing population of the country, and, secondly, from immigration. Few people here expected that the latter source of national strength would be maintained in a period of civil war. It seemed preposterous that hundreds of thousands of people would leave their native land, where they enjoyed peace and "strong governments," to come to a land resounding with the clash of arms, and reeling under the mightiest struggle ever witnessed by gods or men. The European Press, always so wise when not perfectly foolish, predicted that, in event of war, the immigration to which we owed in part our wonderful growth, would dry up. But we have been mistaken as well as they. During the nine past months of the current year, one hundred and sixty thousand souls (and bodies) arrived at this port alone from Europe, or more than double the entire immigration of last year. During the bygone month of September the arrivals numbered 11,384 persons. During the first three days of this month, nearly 3,000 immigrants arrived. The gross arrivals of the year will not fall much short of two hundred thousand.

Notwithstanding the fearful losses and embarrassments of the war, we believe that the next census of the United States will show a population of forty million freemen—including, of course, the States and people of the South, who will all then be back in the Union, and will all have taken the oath of allegiance, except JEFF. DAVIS and other rebel chiefs, who will either have taken refuge in Mexico or in Hades.

Slavery and the Union.

The "radical" preachers from Missouri belong to that class of men who prefer the immediate destruction of Slavery to the salvation of the Union. They are not opposed to the Union; on the contrary, their proclaimed purpose is to secure and uphold it. But they will not have it with Slavery, or any shred or sign of Slavery anywhere within its limits. Universal abolition is their condition precedent to the stoppage of the war, precedent to reconstruction. They claim for themselves and their party the exclusive title of loyalists, and the exclusive characteristic of loyalty. They denounce all who differ from them and their creed as traitors, Copperheads, sympathizers with the rebellion. They accuse the President of favoring "Pro-Slaveryism, which is but a modified form of secession." They accuse the Government of "throwing its influence in favor of slaveholders, guerrillas and bushwhackers." They accuse Gov. GAMBLE of appointing Pro-Slavery Provost-Marshals. They accuse Gen. SCHOFIELD of appointing slaveholders as officers in the enrolled soldiery of the State. They accuse the Provost-Marshals of sustaining the "policy of GAMBLE."

Now, so far as all this is a local fight of factions in Missouri—so far as it is a contest between "Charcoals," "Claybanks," Copperheads, and Secessionists—so far as it relates to the extirpation of Slavery from that State by the people of the State—it is well it should go on, and it were well it was ended. But these men have transferred their battles to the national arena, and imperiously demand that the local policy they uphold shall be adopted as the universal policy of the Government and the nation. They demand that the Government shall enforce only "radical" measures, appoint only "radical" Generals and functionaries, and use the sword and the purse of the nation for the propagation of radicalism generally. They will have no union with slaveholders, no terms with Slave States, and no peace while the land contains a slave.

Now, we are firstly for the Union, and lastly, we are for the Union. The Union is the avowed and real object of the war, and for this end the war is prosecuted by the Government, and the Government is sustained by the great body of the nation. Slavery we are now, and always have been, opposed to. But its abolition is not the purpose, though it may be an incident, of the present National struggle. If the object of the war were changed from Union to Abolition, either ostensibly, as these "radicals" demand, or really and practically, both the Union and the cause of freedom would be endangered.

We are for the Union of the States, even though the institution of Slavery continue to exist in some of them. We are for reconstruction whenever the rebels cease to fight against the Union. We are even for the "Union as it was," so far as that phrase applies to the constitutional rights of States and citizens. The Constitution provided for a "more perfect Union" than the old Confederation, and the Union, reconstructed, would doubtless be more perfect than it formerly was; but still we are battling for the old forms and the ancient Government. In the Union, Slavery and all other political evils can be remedied; but without the Union, there is no conceivable evil to which we will not be subject. We are for the Union before Anti-Slavery, before everything else. The policy of the Government on the subject of Southern Slavery is now clearly defined. So far as the rebel States are concerned, Mr. LINCOLN's proclamation, and his late letter sustaining it, are sufficiently definite and have been accepted by the nation. So far as the exempted States are concerned, the people of every one of those States, including Missouri, are acting in a sufficiently peremptory and conclusive manner.

The question of Slavery is thus settled. The question of the Union is not. The latter question alone is sufficient to call forth all the energy and power of the nation. Upon it all loyal men should concentrate all their efforts, and we may well doubt the reality of any man's loyalty who would subordinate it or make it secondary to anything else, or who would hamper the prosecution of the war for it, and diminish the zeal of the nation for it, by insisting upon any conditions other than those found necessary by the Government.

We do not see any ground for these so-called "radicals" laying exclusive claim to loyalty either in Missouri or anywhere else. They deal denunciations right and left upon every one who ventures to differ from them, even though he be in arms for the Union. The President, his Generals, the army and navy, are not sufficiently loyal, or rather radical, for them; and they would overturn them all, or nullify the action of each, unless they adopt and enforce their insane theories. But the only two parties in the Union are those for it and those against it; and we cannot help thinking that their adversaries whom they name and denounce, who are in the field for the Union, are giving better proof of their patriotism than those who perambulate the country denouncing the authorities and placing the secondary question of Slavery before the all-embracing question of the Union.

Mozart, Tammany and the War.

Two broadly defined parties exist in the Democracy of this City. The one, led by FERNANDO WOOD, clamors for "peace" with the rebel States. "Peace at any price" is practically their motto. To this end, they would proclaim an armistice—not knowing whether the rebels would regard it or not—recall our armies from their advanced positions in the Southern States—yield all territory we have conquered—send back all slaves that have left their masters, and then ask the rebels to meet us in "National Convention," and name what modifications of the Constitution of the United States they would accept, as the condition of living again in the Union! It is in vain that we point to the fact that the rebel Government scorn and spit upon all this talk of peace and reunion, and declare that no terms of peace except such as recognize the final and absolute independence of the South will ever be entertained. Our Peace Democrats reply that war has not restored and cannot restore the Union—and that if negotiations fail to do it, the work must be given up as impossible. Inasmuch, then, as the rebels will have no negotiation, unless preceded by dissolution, this party, of necessity, become disunionists—for disunion is the only condition of "peace" as they demand it.

But all our City Democrats are not "peace men" of the Mozart type. It is notorious that a powerful element in the party is thoroughly Jacksonian in their devotion to the Union. They are opposed to negotiating with the rebels in arms—they are for war to the knife till the rebellion is suppressed—but, then, for the restoration of the States, with all their rights as of old, including Slavery in its most malignant form, and "a general amnesty" to the traitors who have brought such woe on the land.

It is plain that men holding such diverse views as Peace and War Democrats in this City are found to hold, ought not to agree in any political action. They are as wide apart as the poles in sentiment.

The War Democrats, to a qualified extent, are supporters of the Administration. They oppose negotiating with rebels. They believe in beating and disarming them. They do their part in furnishing soldiers for the armies. When they denounce the Administration they say it is for not vigorously prosecuting the war. When they oppose the Emancipation and Confiscation acts they say it is because these measures weaken the Government and strengthen the rebellion. To believe the War Democrats, they wish to obtain the control of the National Government—not to stop the war, but to fight it out more energetically.

There seems to be as much reason for the Peace Democrats opposing the War Democrats as for their opposing the Republicans, or the supporters of the National Administration. And up to quite a late date this seemed to be the purpose of FERNANDO WOOD and his adherents. Carried away by the immensity of his "peace meeting," this leader cut loose from the State organization of the Democratic party, and boldly began to preach a new gospel. The Daily News hoisted the white flag, and called on all friends of peace to rally around it and aid in putting an end to the war. Only a few days ago, in answer to a vaunt of the organ of the War Democrats, the News said in substance: "The question between us is soon settled—nominate your war candidates—we will nominate a peace ticket, and gladly meet you at the polls and show you where you stand." The war organ did not accept the gage: but the public supposed it would, for no one believed the Peace party had numbers enough to make even a respectable faction.

But there is a sudden fright on both sides, it now appears. A panic has struck through the hearts of the Tammany or War men, and Mozart has ceased to grow turbulent in the cause of peace. The heads of factions have thought it wise to review their grounds of hostility to each other, and learn whether pelf is not better than principle! If Mozart and Tammany divide on the war question, how can they obtain peaceable possession of the spoils? That is a grave question, compared with which the willingness of JEFF. DAVIS to "treat" becomes insignificant indeed. Who cares for "a vigorous prosecution of the war," if Tammany cannot disburse the exemption money among home-staying conscripts? And what does Mozart find cheering in her meditations on mercy and peace, if she must surrender "purse and scrip" and go forth as a barefoot and bare-backed Evangelist to preach the new gospel?

Evidently, both parties were mistaken as to the strength of their own integrity. They thought they could sustain the war, or go for peace, and brave the consequences; but they could not. Their hearts failed, and Tammany seeks Mozart, and Mozart seeks Tammany, through joint Committees appointed Thursday night to see if they cannot arrange their little differences! Of course they can. But what is to become of the Southern Confederacy? Herod and Pilate will be friends, but somebody will be betrayed.

STRATEGY.—The Tribune, referring to the blame that has been thrown on the military authorities for the failure to reinforce ROSECRANS previous to the late battles, says:

"Let us remark that the Copperhead clamor about the 'failure to reinforce ROSECRANS' is most unjust. Had ROSECRANS' army been swelled to 100,000 men, the rebels would have let him severely alone, but fallen upon Memphis, Corinth, or some other inviting point."

If this is to be made the test of Copperheadism, the Tribune places itself under that denomination, for it has, on several occasions, made this same "clamor." Thus, in its issue of Sept. 25, it says, editorially:

"ROSECRANS knew, when he crossed the Georgia border, that his force was inadequate to the work which the Government expected him to perform, but he went forward to do what he could. His military superiors must at length be convinced that his estimate was more accurate than theirs, and they will not venture again to withhold or divert in unimportant expeditions the needed reinforcements."

Every day shows more and more clearly that the failure to furnish Gen. ROSECRANS with a sufficient force to complete the momentous campaign he opened so brilliantly by the capture of Chattanooga, is the most unfortunate military blunder of the war. The military authorities are showing their recognition of this by sending reinforcements which might just as well have been sent before the battle and made success certain. Besides, the Tribune is entirely at fault in the point which it makes. If the rebels had "let ROSECRANS severely alone," he would not have let them alone, but by an advance to Rome, (his real military objective point,) he would have planted his army on both their lines of communication, thus preventing the very concentrations of which the Tribune speaks.

The Late Major Edward B. Hunt.

The funeral of this lamented officer of the United States Engineer Corps, whose death has already been announced as having occurred last Friday, in consequence of the premature explosion of a shell with which he was experimenting, will be held at West Point to-day. The remains will leave the Chambers-street depot of the Hudson River Railroad at 10 o'clock A. M.

The following official notice of the death of Major HUNT has been promulgated:

HEADQUARTERS, U. S. TROOPS, NEW-YORK CITY AND HARBOR, NEW-YORK, Oct. 4, 1863.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 31.—The Commanding General, with deep regret, announces to this command the death, on the 2d inst., of Major E. B. HUNT, U. S. Engineers, the result of an accident, while engaged in the prosecution of investigations incident to his profession, and immediately connected with the war in which we are now engaged.

The deceased was a native of this State, and throughout his services of more than eighteen years has been noted as an active, zealous and earnest officer, and for his scientific attainments in and beyond the sphere of his immediate profession. His loss will be felt not only in his own corps and the army, but by the country he has served so long and faithfully.

His distinguished services commend his memory to our respect, and his untimely death invites for his family and friends our warmest sympathy.

By order of Brig.-Gen. CANBY.
C. T. CHRISTENSEN, Assistant-Adjutant-General.

NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

A Proclamation by the President of the United States of America.

The year that is drawing toward its close has been filled with the blessings of fruitful fields and healthful skies. To these bounties, which are so constantly enjoyed that we are prone to forget the Source from which they come, others have been added, which are of so extraordinary a nature that they cannot fail to penetrate and soften even the heart which is habitually insensible to the ever-watchful providence of Almighty God. In the midst of a civil war of unequaled magnitude and severity, which has sometimes seemed to invite and provoke the aggressions of foreign States, peace has been preserved with all nations, order has been maintained, the laws have been respected and obeyed, and harmony has prevailed everywhere, except in the theatre of military conflict, while that theatre has been greatly contracted by the advancing armies and navies of the Union. The needful diversion of wealth and strength from the fields of peaceful industry to the national defence have not arrested the plow, the shuttle or the ship. The ax has enlarged the borders of our settlements, and the mines, as well of iron and coal as of the precious metals, have yielded even more abundantly than heretofore. Population has steadily increased, notwithstanding the waste that has been made in the camp, the siege and the battle-field; and the country, rejoicing in the consciousness of augmented strength and vigor, is permitted to expect a continuance of years with large increase of freedom.

No human counsel hath devised, nor hath any mortal hand worked out these great things. They are the gracious gifts of the Most High God, who, while dealing with us in anger for our sins, hath nevertheless remembered mercy.

It has seemed to me fit and proper that they should be solemnly, reverently and gratefully acknowledged as with one heart and voice, by the whole American people. I do, therefore, invite my fellow-citizens in every part of the United States, and also those who are at sea, and those who are sojourning in foreign lands, to set apart and observe the last Thursday of November next as a day of thanksgiving and prayer to our beneficent Father, who dwelleth in the heavens. And I recommend to them that, while offering up the ascriptions justly due to Him for such singular deliverances and blessings, they do also with humble penitence for our national perverseness and disobedience commend to their tender care all those who have become widows, orphans, mourners, or sufferers in the lamentable civil strife in which we are unavoidably engaged, and fervently implore the interposition of the Almighty hand to heal the wounds of the nation, and to restore it, as soon as may be consistent with the divine purposes, to the full enjoyment of peace, harmony, tranquility and union.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington, this third day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States the eighty-eighth.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

By the President:
WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State.

INTERESTING FROM NEW MEXICO.

The Expedition to Navajo—The Apache Indians—The Arizona Gold Mines.

The Santa Fe Gazette, of the 12th ult., says it is certain that FRANCISCO PEREA, has been elected delegate to Congress from New Mexico.

Of the progress of the expedition into the Navajo country, under Col. CARSON, we have some information in a report made by Sergeant CAMPBELL to Gen. CARLTON. This report gives details of a march of a fortnight in the region occupied by the Zuni and Mogin Indians. On the route there was a great deal of suffering from the excessive heat of the weather, and want of water. Many of the animals gave out, and had to be killed. They overtook a band of Navajos, not far from the Mogin settlements, and killed four of them, capturing besides a large number of sheep and horses. What was accomplished is summed up at fifty Indians killed and prisoners; 60 horses, and 1,000 sheep and goats captured, and 350 acres of young wheat and corn destroyed. The only casualty to the expedition was the death of Major CUMMINGS. The Indians had been driven into the Canon de Chelle and toward the Colorado, where it was expected they would be followed with success. The Ute Indians with the expedition, claimed all the prisoners and booty, which being refused, they left, much to the satisfaction, as is stated, of everybody in the command.

A letter in the Gazette from Fort Sumner, near the Moro, gives a gratifying account of the success of the experiment with the Apache Indians, who have been placed on a reservation near the fort under the supervision of Indian Agent LABADIE.

The following items are from the Gazette:

Gold.—The reports from the newly-discovered gold mines in Arizona are the most favorable of any that have ever come from any gold producing country known in the world. Men, without any implements but those of the most simple kind, are said to make from eight to fifteen hundred dollars per day, and that, too, without the aid of water. If this prove to be true, California and Colorado will soon be depopulated of miners.

Returned.—Right Rev. Bishop LAMY has returned from a quite protracted visit to Denver City, and the northern counties in this Territory. We are pleased to see his Reverence looking so well after the fatigue of his journey.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF.

The Capture and Recapture of the Leviathan —The William Peel—Cotton.

From Our Own Correspondent.

DEPARTMENT OF THE GULF,
NEW-ORLEANS, La., Saturday, Sept. 26, 1863.

One of the most daring pieces of attempted robbery, the success of which would have impeded the most important military and civil interests connected with this Department that has developed itself in this rebellion, was attempted on the morning of Tuesday, the 22d inst. The incipient stages of this outrage upon all the rules of civilized warfare, rich comment upon the neutrality of the English Government, and fine illustration of Senator SUMNER'S speech on our foreign relations, can be understood by reading the following commission, which, with other papers, was found in possession of the would-be pirate of the closest ally of "Perfidious Albion:"

CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA,
NAVY DEPARTMENT, RICHMOND, Aug. 5, 1863.

SIR: You are hereby informed that the President has appointed you AN ACTING MASTER, WITHOUT PAY, in the Navy of the Confederate States. You are requested to signify your acceptance or non-acceptance of this appointment; and should you accept, you will sign before a magistrate the oath of office herewith, and forward the same, with your letter of acceptance, to this Department, reporting at the same time your residence when appointed, and the State in which you were born.

Registered No. —.

The lowest number takes rank.

S. R. MALLORY, Secretary of the Navy.

Acting Master DAVID NICHOLS, C. S. N., care of Messrs. STOCKARD, RUPERT & Co., Mobile, Ala.

Subsequent events made it certain that NICHOLS accepted his appointment, with "salary no object," for we find that fourteen days afterward, the following informal (!) commission was issued:

NAVAL COMMANDANT'S OFFICE,
MOBILE, Ala, Aug. 19, 1863.

SIR: You will proceed to sea in the cutter Teaser and cruise between this port and the Mississippi River for the purpose of destroying or capturing any of the enemy's vessels or boats you may fall in with. Should you succeed in making any captures you will convey them to a safe port, and on your arrival you will make a full report to me of your cruise.

Wishing you all success in your enterprise, I am respectfully, your obedient servant,

FRANK BUCHANAN, Admiral, &c., &c.

DAVID NICHOLS, Master C. S. Navy, Mobile, Ala.

The Confederate States Government having completed its part of the devilish programme, we find that NICHOLS went to work and made up a kindred company of fellow pirates, consisting of twenty men, (the shipping papers showing that they, too, entered the service without pay,) who proceeded from Mobile in the yacht Teaser, and having arrived at the mouth of the Mississippi waited for an opportunity to steal a vessel, in which Acting Master NICHOLS could distinguish himself in destroying the commerce of the United States. After due examination on the part of NICHOLS, and, no doubt, with the entire sympathy of many permanent inhabitants about the Belize, he selects as a fit prize the tugboat propeller Leviathan, one of the staunchest, fastest and best propellers of its size in the country.

On the morning of the 22d of September, just before daybreak, when the Leviathan, by some extraordinary coincidence, had just loaded with six hundred barrels of coal and got steam up, the Teaser, with her crew, runs out of some place of concealment and in a few minutes more was in possession of the vessel. A short time only is necessary to secure the old crew, or such among them as were possibly not in the secret of the contemplated capture, and the propeller started for sea, the pilot on board being compelled to steer over the bar at the Southwest Pass. The moment the vessel was fairly under way a Confederate flag was raised upon the staff, and as she passed beyond the bar three rousing cheers were given for the Southern Confederacy.

Fortunately two of the men belonging to the Leviathan escaped ashore in the confusion of the capture, and instantly communicated what had occurred to Mr. HERRICH, of the United States steamer Pampero, who would otherwise have noticed nothing peculiar in the Leviathan's going to sea. Mr. HERRICH instantly took possession of the armed transport Crescent, which had just arrived from New-Orleans, in which he put to sea, running over the bar with the intention of chasing the captured vessel. As he went out, HERRICH providentially met the United States steamer De Soto coming in from the eastward, and immediately informed the Commander what had happened. Having this information, the De Soto immediately put her helm up and ran to sea, and soon after discovered a vessel which was supposed to be the Leviathan. An exciting chase now commenced of nearly fifty miles, which lasted some five hours, and the result was the capture of the Leviathan.

On board the Leviathan was found a picked crew of nineteen men, and we have never seen better material for reckless work, or men more judiciously selected for strength, activity and desperate adventure. These men were armed with the best possible navy revolvers, as new as if they had just come from the packing boxes, said arms and other equipments being of British manufacture. I must repeat that the importance of this capture can hardly be appreciated by the underwriters of New-York and other cities of the North. To our commercial marine in the Gulf, this capture may almost be said to be its salvation, for what injury could it not have done, carrying its desperate crew, furnished with coal for thirty days, the vessel itself one of the fastest and staunchest in the Gulf, and capable, probably, of running away from any of our war steamers except the De Soto? What would have become of the sailing vessels, our transports and our fine steamers, such as the Morning and Evening Star and the Columbia? Indeed, the Leviathan could have swept the mouth of the Mississippi, and for a time almost blockaded our city of commercial marine.

Among other fearful rumors afloat there is one that NICHOLS, after he got to sea, stripped the Teaser of her masts, rigging and sails, and then placed six men —those on the Leviathan—in the dismantled boat, and without water or provisions cut her adrift. The boat, fortunately, did not founder, but after drifting about three days and nights, reached Barrataria. A more diabolical act can scarcely be conceived than this, and gave fine promise of what would have been NICHOLS' conduct in the Gulf had he escaped the swift "web-feet" of the De Soto. Probably to get clear of numerous passengers of some of our fine packet steamers, he might, rather than to humanely murder his victims, set a few boat loads of women and children afloat to die of starvation. The idea is entirely consistent with his other proceedings, and the London Humane Societies should vote the philanthropist NICHOLS a gold medal.

In this connection I would say that since I have been in New-Orleans, I have had the good fortune to meet with quite a number of naval officers, and I feel that I am somewhat prepared to speak of the sentiments which prevail among our naval heroes. There is not a man among them with whom I have conversed, who does not most anxiously desire to see our country reflecting the beams of peace, but, at the same time, there is a feeling of deep and strong indignation at the selfish and treacherous course of the British Government. Four years ago, had England been pressed by all the rival Powers of Europe combined, the kindred sympathies of our race would have flashed magnetically through every pulsation of our navy, and its representatives would have buckled on their arms and rushed to the rescue of her constitutional government; but the heart of our navy now throbs with a different sentiment. If LOUIS NAPOLEON could only witness what I have, by association with the officers of our navy, he would learn that now is the day and now is the hour to wipe out the memory of the Nile, of Trafalgar and Waterloo. Let him now, in defence of the American people and of his own traditions, declare war against the implacable enemy of his dynasty, and he will find four hundred sail, from the shallop to the swift steaming cruiser, infesting every pathway of commerce, and acting only upon the precedence for England so unfortunate, for NAPOLEON so propitious—the British commercial marine would blacken every sea with their repulsive and charred timbers, and lighten every coast with the burning glare of her wealth-producing ships—and the commerce which England has so foully and fraudulently forced out of our own ships, and from under our flag, would again seek protection four-fold in amount under the protecting ægis of the "Stars and Stripes."

The fact that there is no United States Judge a[t] Key West has naturally sent the captured blockade runners into this port. Within a few days several rich prizes have been reported at the Quarantine, or as having arrived at the levee. The De Soto, of the Eastern Gulf squadron, in addition to the Leviathan, already noticed in detail, sends us the steamer Alabama, captured in the Gulf of Mexico, lat. 28° 32', long. 87° 12', with an assorted cargo on board. The steamer is a very fine one, and will prove of much value here or at the mouth of the Mississippi. This vessel sailed with an assorted cargo for Havana, under British colors; the Captain professed to have no papers on board. There is still another prize of the De Soto's at the Quarantine—the steamer Montgomery, with the original crew on board, and the prize crew of six men and one officer. She is filled with a mixed cargo, and the steamer and cargo are very valuable.

To-day, there arrived a prize of still more importance, so far as commercial value is concerned, to any other that has been brought into this port. I allude to the Sir William Peel, captured on the 11th of September, at the mouth of the Rio Grande. She was taken by the United States steamer Seminole, Lt. ROLANDO Commander, measures over 2,000 tons, and has on board 942 bales of cotton. Her cabin is very splendid, and her engines of the most powerful kind. It is supposed that she has under decks a large amount of contraband goods belonging to the Confederate Government, among these articles, powder, arms, and machinery supposed to be for a rebel ram. The District Court of the Eastern District of Louisiana is destined to be crowded with the most important cases that can come before a judicial tribunal. Hon. E. H. PURCELL gives promise of being equal to the emergency. A ripe scholar, thoroughly read in his profession, of high personal and social character, and thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the broadest patriotism, a resident of New-Orleans of twenty-five years, and proud of his profession, he will give to his Court a character worthy of his associate Justices of past or present fame.

Possibly I may affect the cotton market by stating that to-day there were no less than four auction sales of small lots of "free-labor cotton," so you see the crop is coming in, and this free-labor cotton is made merchandise of at this mart, and attracts no more attention than if it did not mark one of the most extraordinary revolutions in the history of modern times. Cotton was king and slave-labor was the throne,—now cotton is still in power but rests on free-labor for its strength. Would the wildest dreamer three years ago have dared to predict such a result?

HARLEM, July 30, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evince the highest practical ability. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 23, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a dropping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,
No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 8.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. What I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr Von Eisenberg, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disagreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. Von Eisenberg's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 556 2d-av.

No. 134 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain. JOHN TAYLOR,

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with congulated blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. It is with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

SIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 25, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain nor the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, March 26, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill, and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. Von Eisenberg with a certainty of being cured."

DEAFNESS, CATARRH AND DISEASES OF THE EAR AND THROAT.

Dr. LIGHTHILL, author of "A Popular Treatise on Deafness," "Letters on Catarrh," &c., &c., can be consulted on Deafness, Catarrh, Discharges from the Ear Noises in the Head, and all the various acute and chronic diseases of the Ear and Throat, at his office, No. 34 St. Mark's-place, (8th-st., between 2d and 3d avs.,) from 9 A. M. till 3 P. M.

FROM F. L. CAGWIN, ESQ.,
PRESIDENT CITY BANK, JOLIET, ILL.

Dr. Lighthill:

DEAR SIR: It affords me the greatest satisfaction to be able to inform you that I am still improving, and have the highest hopes that my ear will be entirely well by the time you at first mentioned it would take to effect a cure. I can say that I am truly thankful to the kind Providence which directed me to you. Since the first few days' use of your prescription, my ear has improved, and almost at once. I was relieved from a very depressed state of feeling and an almost intolerable case, to an elastic and hopeful state of mind. What Dr. John Nott replied to me as his experience, has been mine so far. My catarrhal trouble seems very much better also, and, indeed, altogether my health never was so good. I am weighing some five pounds more than is usual for me, (and more than I ever weighed before.)

I can but hope that it may be the good fortune of many, with like troubles, to fall in the way of the benefit of your skill, and knowing how great the fear of imposition is with those, who in time past, may like myself have suffered by it, and feeling a wish, sincerely at this time, to aid and commend you in establishing a high and deserved position amongst us in your profession, I beg, therefore, that you will not hesitate to refer to me, as it may be of use. I also inclose herewith, Professor Nott's reply to my letter of inquiries, which I deem highly creditable to you, and of great importance to others, as it has been to me. I will visit you again soon. In the meantime, believe me, Yours, very sincerely,

FROM REV. JOHN NOTT, D. D.,
PROFESSOR IN UNION COLLEGE, SCHENECTADY, NEW-YORK.

FONDA, N. Y., April 29, 1863.

F. L. Cagwin, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: I received your letter of April 23 today. I have had from infancy one very deaf ear, and always discharging more or less offensive matter. This year both ears became diseased, running very much, very offensive, producing the greatest debility of body and depression of spirits, and my hearing impaired in the highest degree. In such a condition, I placed myself under the care of Dr. Lighthill. He has fully restored me. I hear well; the dizziness and the discharge have been removed, and have not returned. The stopping of the running has given me the highest elasticity and vigor of body, and a flow of spirits, while my fears were that stopping the discharge would prove detrimental or dangerous.

I esteem, or rather have learned to esteem, Dr. Lighthill—for he was a stranger to me until I was his patient—as a gentleman and a man of science, in whom the highest confidence may be placed. Yours, very truly,

JOHN NOTT.

CATARRH.
DEAFNESS, DISEASES OF THE EYE, EAR, THROAT AND CATARRH
treated by Dr. ROWE, No. 49 Concord-st., Brooklyn. Office hours 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

FROM THOMAS S. DAY, ESQ., OF BROOKLYN

No. 222 PEARL-ST., BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 18, 1863.

For the benefit of those similarly afflicted, I make the following statement: For ten years my daughter was afflicted with Catarrh, which gradually grew worse, until it had so impaired her health that we felt convinced she must die. The discharge from the head and throat was incessant, frequently accompanied by blood. After having tried every one and everything in vain, as a last resort I called on Dr. Rowe, under whose care she has been entirely cured and restored to the enjoyment of excellent health. THOMAS S. DAY.

FROM CALEB SAGER, ESQ., OF TRENTON, N. J.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 29, 1862.

This is to certify that my daughter having been afflicted for eighteen years with deafness and discharges from both ears, caused from scarlet fever when two years old, I placed her under the care of Dr. Rowe. Now her hearing is restored; she hears quite distinctly, and the discharges from both ears are entirely stopped. From my intercourse with Dr. Rowe, I feel justified in recommending him as a gentleman well versed in the diseases he makes a specialty of. CALEB SAGER,

MEDICAL.

PRIVATE DISEASES CURED IN THE shortest possible time, by Dr. WARD & CO., No. 50 Lispenard-st., near Broadway, without the use of Mercury, loss of time or change of diet. Dr. WARD, from the hospitals of London, Paris and Edinburgh, is the discoverer of the only certain and reliable remedies for diseases of a private character. In 25 years' practice he has cured more cases of Secret Diseases and Wrong Treatment than all others combined. I can and will cure you in less time and expense than any one can or will, and those who have been robbed of their money and health, call; it will take but little money and time to restore you. If you have been unfortunate, call at once. By his special experience in this much neglected branch of medical science, he is enabled to guarantee a cure in the most complicated cases. Recent cases of Gonorrhœa or Syphilis cured in a few days, without change of diet or hindrance from business. Secondary Syphilis—the last vestige eradicated without the use of Mercury. Involuntary emissions stopped in a short time. Sufferers from Impotency, or loss of sexual power, restored to full vigor in a few weeks. Permanently and speedily cured by a new treatment. Persons at a distance failing to receive prompt treatment elsewhere, may get a permanent cure effected by writing a full diagnosis of their case, addressed to Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st., the only place. Call, send for a circular, or write.

SURE CURE—BY DR. POWERS, SUCCESSfully consulted with Dr. WARD, No. 50 Lispenard-st. Conducted on the plan of the Hospital des Veneriens, Paris, where those afflicted with any form of private disease can receive prompt treatment, without risk or exposure, viz.: Syphilis, gonorrhœa gleet, strictures, ulcers, tumors, cancers, secondary and constitutional syphilis, diseases of the kidneys, &c., &c. Thirty years of extensive practice, exclusively devoted to the treatment of those complaints enable us to effect cures in cases where others of less experience have failed. Dr. Powers' Essence of Life restores the vigor of youth in four weeks. This marvelous agent restores manhood to the most shattered constitution—physical disqualifications, impediments to marriage, thereby speedily cured. The men to consult, Drs. Ward and Powers, the champions and kings of venereal diseases, possessing the most certain, speedy and only effectual remedies in the world, guarantee a perfect cure, or no charge, in from one to three days. Established in 1840. Those who have met their deceptions are never without. Send for a circular. To Ladies.—Dr. Powers' Periodical Drops are a safe and certain remedy for monthly irregularities. The above remedies sent by mail. The afflicted should read their circular. Postage free, on receipt of a stamp. Cures warranted.

PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—DR. HUNTER has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours; cures without the dreadful consequent effects of mercury, but possesses the peculiarly valuable property of annihilating the rank and poisonous taint that the blood is sure to absorb unless his remedy is used. That is what he claims for it, and what no other will accomplish. Its value in this respect has become so well known, that scientific men in every department of medical knowledge begin to appreciate it, for hardly a week passes that he is not consulted by druggists, chemists and physicians in regard to some pitiful patient who has exhausted the whole field of the faculty, and still the disease will appear. Its popularity is so great that there is not a quack doctor in the City that has not attacked it, and when they find their lies are not so easily swallowed, they then pretend that they can make it. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for 15 three-cent stamps, 300 pages, 100 colored illustrations. The best work out.

THE WAR IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Explosion of an Ammunition Train—Several Lives Lost—A Fight at McMinnville—Union Volunteers in Arkansas—Operations of Guerrillas.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sunday, Oct. 4.

The Press of to-day says: A terrible explosion occurred near Bridgeport. A train of twenty army wagons laded with ammunition had camped near the city for the night. Two negroes quarrelled, one of whom seized a shell which he accidentally let fall among the ammunition, causing it to explode and communicate to the other ammunition.

Immediately after wagon after wagon caught fire, the teamsters and their attendants flying for their lives. The mules had been removed before the explosion. Later reports say there are nine or ten killed and double that wounded. The fire finally reached the magazine, exploding it, and destroying a vast quantity of ammunition.

LOUISVILLE, Sunday, Oct. 4.

A special dispatch to the Journal, from Nashville 3d, says McMinnville was attacked at noon to-day. The result is unknown, but a fight was progressing when telegraphic communication was interrupted.

The rebel cavalry are reported crossing the Tennessee at Washington.

The cavalry from this post (McMinnville) returned last evening with a rebel captain and lieutenant, and thirteen paroled prisoners.

The windows of the stores on both sides of the street were smashed by the concussion.

INCREASE OF IMMIGRATION.

Among the various anomalies that signalize the present peculiar condition of our national affairs, none are more striking than the marked increase of immigration to this country during the current year, as compared with the preceding one. Notwithstanding the tremendous struggle, the knowledge of which must, long ago, have reached the remotest hamlets of Western Europe, and notwithstanding the innumerable reports spread abroad of suffering, destitution, general mourning and business depression in the United States, the poor people of Europe have such faith in our vitality and our freedom, that they are flocking to our shores. Scarcely a day passes that does not see hundreds upon hundreds land on the docks and quays of this City, with all their worldly goods, and although the trappings of war meet their gaze even as they land on the Battery, they seem scarcely to notice them, but quickly prepare for their permanent sojourn here in the Metropolis or their journey to the far interior.

The immigration at this port alone for the year up to this date is computedat no less than 160,000
That for 1862 was 76,000
Increase 84,000

—or 8,000 more than the entire total of last year.

From Sept. 1, 1863, until the 30th, there arrived:

From	Vessels.	Passengers Bondable.	Not liable to Bond.
Liverpool	25	6,355	375
London	1	105	16
Galway	1	658	19
Havre	3	208	16
Hamburg	4	1,116	4
Bremen	9	2,443	80
Rotterdam	1	39	—
Gottenburg	1	27	—
Genoa	1	20	3
Total		10,871	513

of these were:

	Bondable passengers.	Not liable to Bond.
Sailing vessels	29	4,291	173 —4,464
Steamers	17	6,580	340 —6,920
Total			11,384

Comparing with the above the returns for Sept. 1862, as recorded at Castle Garden, we find the following arrivals:

	Bondable passengers.	Not liable to Bond.
Sailing vessels	43	6,226	367 —5,593
Steamers	9	2,250	212 —2,462
Total	52	7,476	579 8,055

On Friday last arrived the steamer Louisiana from Liverpool with steerage passengers 580
Steamer City of Washington from Liverpool 650
Total 1,230
Saturday last arrived sailing vessels from Hamburgh, the Prince Albert 191
From London the Margaret Evans 140
From Liverpool, the Ellen Austin 208
Total 539

Making a grand total of 1,769 in the two last days of the week, and revealing a constantly growing and very rapid increase.

The steerage passengers by the steamers of the new line to which the Georgia and Louisiana belong complain most bitterly of the style of their accommodations and treatment on board. The vessels in question were intended to ply directly between Liverpool and Charleston in the interest of the cotton trade, but after the outbreak of the existing war were diverted necessarily into other channels, and are now employed as regular passenger boats between this port and Liverpool. They are not calculated to carry more than 400 persons, at the utmost, in anything approaching comfort, and yet, they come packed with six, seven and even nearly eight hundred souls, the latter being the number alleged to have endured the last passage on board the Georgia. Passengers arriving by the Louisiana on Friday alleged to the employes of the Commissioners of Emigration, at Castle Garden, that they had been obliged to wait a whole day, sometimes, for their food, the cooking arrangements intended for 400 persons at the outside, proving totally inadequate to supply the wants of nearly seven hundred.

The Oyer and Terminer and Court of Sessions.

MORE RIOTERS TO BE TRIED.

The October term of the Court of General Sessions will commence this morning before Recorder HOFFMAN. The Court of Oyer and Terminer will also hold a session this month, commencing to-day, Judge BARNARD will occupy the Bench. The principal business before the two Courts this term will be the riot cases. There are about thirty criminals in the Tombs, indicted for various offences committed during the riots, six or eight of them being for murder in connection with the outrages committed upon the negroes, and as many more for arson. The first case on the Calendar of the Court of Sessions is that of Dr. E. M. BROWN, the abortionist, which will certainly commence to-day. District-Attorney HALL will conduct the prosecution on this occasion in person. The first case on the Calendar of the Oyer and Terminer is that of JOSEPH SANDS, the Policeman indicted for murder in killing a prisoner whom he arrested and took to the Eighth Ward Station-house. SANDS claims that the shot was accidental. Assistant District-Attorney S. B. GARVIN will represent the people in the Court of Oyer and Terminer. It is not probable that anything more will be done in the Court to-day than to impannel a Grand Jury.

Increase of Cartmen and Porters' Rates.

The Cartmen, some time since, petitioned the Mayor and Common Council for an increase of the rates heretofore allowed them under the ordinance, and the two Boards passed an ordinance amending the one stipulating the rates. The amendments increase the rates twenty-five per cent.; provision is also made in it for a similar increase to the scale of rates heretofore chargeable by Porters. On Saturday the Mayor approved the ordinance and it is now a law. The increase will meet with general approval as a just one.

ARREST OF AN ESCAPED CONVICT.—On Saturday afternoon Detective FARLEY arrested a man named CHAS. ROGERS, a convicted felon, who recently made his escape from a penitentiary at Louisville, Ky. ROGERS is represented as a desperate fellow, and had a term of several years to serve when he broke jail. Gov. ROBINSON, of Kentucky, and the jailor of the penitentiary where ROGERS had been confined, each offered a reward of $100 for his apprehension. The Governor's proclamation, together with the carte de visite of the felon and a full description of his person, were forwarded to this City, and after much effort his arrest was effected. A BARGE AND HER CARGO BURNED.—Between 3 and 4 o'clock yesterday morning, a fire was discovered on the barge Starlight, Capt. LEAHEY, from Rondout, loaded with 1,600 barrels of lime. She was lying at the time alongside one of the piers of the North River. The fire originated from the slacking of a portion of the lime in the hold, which by some means had come in contact with the water. When all efforts to extinguish the flames proved fruitless, the barge was towed to the end of the pier, scuttled and sunk. The boat and cargo were owned by DANIEL DONOVAN, and were valued at over $3,000; fully insured.

LEATHER—Sales has been actively inquired for and prices of hemlock-tanned have advanced ½c.@1c. ₱ lb. Week's receipts of Sole, 47,000 sides. Messrs. H. D. HILL & Co. say: "For Hemlock Sole there has prevailed a fair steady demand throughout the week, which is somewhat increased toward the close. Only a moderate number of buyers have been personally in the swamp, but orders for large quantities have been received, many of which remain unfilled, owing to the scarcity of stock. The inquiry continues for all descriptions, but the almost total lack of pump, heavy stock, and consequent high prices demanded for it when found, has turned the attention of buyers to the more inferior grades, on which rates have somewhat advanced during the week. Prices generally are not quotably higher, but are very firm with a strong upward tendency. From the tanneries the receipts have been fair, but continue insufficient to supply the demand, and the stock, remaining on hand at the close of the week is less than has been held for a number of years. For Oak Tanned the market remains active and firm with stock tight and diminishing. Rough Upper is also scarce, and wanted at full prices. We now quote: Sole—Oak Slaughter and salted, good light, 37c.@39c.; Oak Slaughter, good middle, 38c.@40c.; Oak Slaughter, good heavy, 37c.@39c.; Oak Slaughter, light cropped, good, 41c.@43c.; Oak Slaughter, middle cropped, good, 43c.@44c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good light, 27c.@28c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good middle, 29c.@30c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, &c., good heavy, 30c.@32c.; Hemlock, California, good light, 27c.@28c.; Hemlock, California, good middle, 29c.@30c.; Hemlock, California, good heavy, 30½c.@31½c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good light, 26c.@27½c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good middle, 28½c.@29c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., good heavy, 28½c.@29½c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, and B.
